BASEMENT EXCAVATION for the new addition to the Ferguson Medical Group building was begun Monday, at 1012 North Main Street. Verlon Sain handles the Caterpillar. St. Paul's Episcopal Church is in the left background.

Excavation Starts for New Medical Building Addition

Excavation began this week for a new $250,000 addition to the Ferguson Medical Group building at 1012 North Main St.

The addition will be 62 by 122 feet, and will contain 14,000 square feet, 7,000 square feet on ground and basement levels. It will be built on the east side of the building.

The contractor is Professional Builders of Madison, Wis. A.C. James, route two is in charge of excavation.

On the ground floor there will be 15 examining rooms, two minor surgery rooms, laboratory room, X-ray rooms, a large waiting room, and the A.G. Tenkhoff pharmacy enlarged to more than double its present size.

When the new addition is completed it will house the offices of an expanded staff of nine doctors.

A total of 5,000 square feet of space will be left for future development.

The old portion of the building will be remodeled. The waiting room will be made into business rooms. The pharmacy quarters will be converted into an office for the clinic manager, Claude Benney. Other rooms will be remodeled for examination rooms.

Completion date is set for May 1.

LBJ Decision to Retire Reported Clinched By Lynda's Fears for Husband in Vietnam

NEW YORK (AP) — Columnist Drew Pearson says in a magazine article that questions by Lynda Bird about why her husband had to go to Vietnam provided "the final clincher" for President Johnson's decision to retire.

Pearson writes in the current issue of Look magazine that Johnson and his wife asked Secret Service men to awaken them before Lynda Bird arrived at the White House at 6:30 a.m. after a flight to the West Coast to see her husband, Marine Corps Capt. Charles Robb, off to war.

Pearson says the President confided to a friend:

"We didn't want her coming into the White House all alone. So we left word with the Secret Service to notify us 30 minutes in advance.

"We were awake and lying in bed before the Secret Service called, I pulled a pair of britches over my pajamas and we went out to the South Gate to meet her.

"She was pale as a ghost. She talked to me about what a fine boy Chuck was, in the past tense, as if he was never coming back.

And Lynda Bird said: "Daddy, I want to ask you a question. Why do we have to fight over there when so many people were opposed to the war? Why do we have to send 200 boys over there in Chuck's company when there's so much opposition here at home to the war?"

That night, Johnson announced his decision to withdraw from the presidential picture.

That morning, Pearson says, Johnson called on Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and showed him two alternative endings for his speech that night— one just a "peroration for peace" and the other announcing his withdrawal.

Pearson says Humphrey tried to persuade Johnson not to withdraw, but the President was adamant.

Pearson quotes Johnson as having said:

"The time is getting short. We've got to get peace in Vietnam. And I think that with me bowing out the other side is more likely to negotiate.

"There's another thing. I'm tired. I'm getting old. All the men in my family have a record of not living much over the age of 60. I'll be 60 this summer. I've had a heart attack. My health is pretty good. I think my chart is as good as yours. But I'm not sure I could live out another term. And that's not the way I want to end my life."

Aides of Humphrey in Washington said he would have no comment on the magazine article.

Pearson wrote that Johnson told Humphrey he had intended announcing his withdrawal in his Jan. 17 State of the Union address, but mislaid the text. Johnson said he first accused his wife, Lady Bird, of taking the text with her to a beauty parlor, but later discovered the slip of paper near the phone in his White House bedroom, Pearson relates.

Pearson writes that Johnson first wrote out a statement of withdrawal last November and showed it to a few close friends.

Six men had scaled the iron paling fence around the White House last year intent on killing Johnson, Pearson says, and 12,000 letters threatening his life had been written.

Hearnes Admits Turnpike Ruling Disappointment

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, who sponsored the law, said Monday he was very disappointed at a Missouri Supreme Court decision holding a 1967 toll turnpike law invalid.

The text of the governor's statement:

"I am very disappointed about this ruling and the effects it may have, because I sincerely believe that turnpikes would be of great benefit to Missouri.

"The Legislature agreed with my recommendation for turnpikes and agreed that this method would mean a savings of many years in building a system of major new highways. The ruling by the Supreme Court represents the opinion of one of the three branches of government, and I disagree with the reasoning of the court on this decision. The court's ruling will have serious economic effects in all parts of Missouri.

"There are two alternatives which we now face— to forget about having toll roads in Missouri, or to adopt a constitutional amendment which would enable the state to proceed with its original plan.

"The latter alternative would have to be submitted to the legislature in its regular session next year.

"Before making a definite recommendation, I will need some time to consider this problem and to find out the wishes of the people of Missouri on what course of action they would want us to follow."

Legislature Formally Closes

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Missouri's second special legislative session died Monday with few mourners at the bedside.

By resolution, the session ended at 5 p.m. without having accomplished any improvement in the financial situation of the big cities. No one was present when time ran out.

The session did enact a $40 million capital improvements bill and approve articles of impeachment against St. Louis County Circuit Judge John D. Hasler for his personal involvement with a woman defendant in a divorce ase.

Hasler now is being tried in St. Louis County Circuit Court on a charge of oppression in office, also for his involvement with Mrs. Jean Shelby of Poplar Bluff who was being sued for divorce by her husband, Delmar Shelby of St. Ann, Mo.

The impeachment trial will be conducted before the State Supreme Court, with the first round of legal proceedings scheduled for July 24.

The capital improvements bill failed in the first special session last March because some senators were afraid not enough revenue would be available. Since then state tax collections improved to the point the Senate was willing to accept the bill.

Clark Elected Chairman of DAEOC Board

PORTAGEVILLE--Elbert Clark of Sikeston was elected chairman of the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation board of directors Monday night.

Neeley Mitchell of Hayti was elected vice chairman.

The board decided to extend the deadline for taking applications for 24 positions to be opened soon. The deadline was extended to next Tuesday when the board will again meet to review applications.

DAEOC is a war on poverty agency serving Scott, Mississippi, Stoddard, New Madrid, Pemiscot and Dunklin counties.

Bicyclist Hurt When He Runs Into Automobile

Twelve-year old Howard James Bienlein, of route six, Perryville, was believed to have received a serious skull fracture, when he ran into the side of a 1959 Chevrolet, with his bicycle, driven by John H. Vernon, also of route six, Perryville, the state patrol reported.

The accident occurred Monday at 6:05 p.m., on route P, three miles west of Crosstown, in Perry county.

The boy was taken to Perry County Memorial hospital in Perryville.

Plans to Meet Van Thieu Hint Johnson May Take More Trips

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - The announcement President Johnson has agreed to meet with South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu this month has increased speculation Johnson plans a busy season of globetrotting.

The President had returned from Central America-jetting to all five republics there in serven hours Monday-only hours before Thieu's office in Saigon announced the meeting planned in Honolulu about July 20.

There already had been strong speculation that Johnson, who made a 4½-day around-the-world tour last December, might range all over the map during the coming weeks.

There was talk of possible Johnson trips to Africa, Asia, South America and Europe perhaps even to Moscow-before his term ends.

Wherever he goes, Johnson would be hard pressed to top Monday's record of five countries between breakfast and midafternoon. Starting out in El Salvador, he traveled 1,050 miles to Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras and Guatemala.

When he reached Guatemala City, last stop before returning to his Texas ranch for a brief stay, the chief executive was exactly 95 miles away from his starting point, the city of San Salvador.

Johnson was the first U.S. president to visit all five nations of Central America. In effect, he operated a homewardbound ferrying service for the presidents of the other countries who had joined him at the weekend Latin summit in San Salvador.

Each of Monday's stops followed a pattern: Johnson never left the airports, stayed in each country about an hour, exchanged formal speeches with the host presidents and mingled with leading citizens at informal receptions.

Warm greetings everywhere also were part of the pattern. Few sour notes were struck, people cheered lustily and rushed to touch him. Many talked about amity and friendship and waved American flags.

At Guatemala City, however, the greeting was the least spontaneous because those on hand were present only by invitation. The Guatemalan government is beset from left and right.

So, as Johnson roamed through a champagne reception in the striking new airport terminal, combat troops carrying submachine guns mingled with the guests.

The President's purpose in going to Central America was to dramatize progress by the region's seven-year-old common market and point to the unfinished tasks ahead.

Commission, City Adopt Growth Plan

The comprehensive plan for the city of Sikeston prepared by Harland Bartholomew and Associates of St. Louis was approved by the city planning commission and accepted by the city council in a joint meeting Monday night at the city administration building.

Three features recommended by the planners were deleted before the plan was accepted.

A mall for the downtown area had been proposed as an added attraction for shoppers and a contribution to the esthetic appearance of the area. It was opposed by a group of merchants mainly because it would eliminate 77 prime parking spaces on Front street.

Ira Keller, planning commission member, said the "guts had been cut from the plan" by eliminating the mall without offering anything to make the area more attractive.

Planning commission members and councilmen were in general agreement that the downtown area needs a drawing card, but could not get together on specifically what would be best.

The consulting firm's proposed plan before it was altered by the city also called for the eventual vacating of the present airport and the construction of a facility outside the city limits. The safety of school children was the prime reason for the proposal. The flight pattern of landing crafts is directly over the Sikeston Senior High School complex.

The other feature deleted from the proposed plan was the addition of another zoning classification for commercial property.

City Manager W. Raymert Miller noted that the comprehensive plan is only a guide line for growth and can be amended at any time. It is needed to aid the orderly growth

Eagleton Optimistic About Chances

Lt. Gov. Thomas Eagleton was cautiously optimistic about his chances for winning the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator in an informal speech to about 60 guests at a campaign fund raising dinner Monday night at the Sikeston Country Club.

Eagleton said he has been campaigning hard for the past nine or ten months and the only plans for the next four weeks, the remaining period before the Aug. 6 primary, is to continue to work.

"We have covered a lot of ground and while I'm optimistic about our chances, I don't believe I'm a cockeyed optimist," Eagleton said.

The former attorney general said he and his campaign manager Richard Southern, Madison, State senator from the 18th district, have been generally well received around the state, and especially well received in the 10th District and in Sikeston.

He emphasized that he did not mean to appear smugly complacent about the campaign propose new legislation without requiring the state gasoline tax as security.

This would probably mean bonds to be sold would have too high of an interest rate to sell, he said.

A second alternative would be a constitutional amendment.

The third choice, he said, would be to beseech Congress to start a second phase of the interstate highway system. The present system, not completed yet, was designed in 1948 and is not adequate to serve the needs of 1968 or 1978 he said.

Clashes Flare in Viet Trouble Spots

SAIGON (AP) — A series of clashes broke out Monday and today around Saigon and in the far northwest, two flash points where big battles are expected soon.

In South Vietnam's northwest corner, U.S. Marines reported killing another 89 North Vietnamese in a two-day running battle near the abandoned Khe Sanh combat base. Thirteen Marines were killed and 68 wounded. Since Friday, when fighting erupted on the eastern edge of the demilitarized zone, Marines have reported killing 230 enemy troops along the northern frontier.

A Marine company fought the North Vietnamese for 3½ hours ending Sunday night. Another Marine company relieved and came under an attack Monday that lasted for five hours.

Two companies of the 101st Airborne Division blocking infiltration routes reported killing 21 enemy soldiers 25 miles northwest of Saigon in a battle that raged into the night. Four Americans were killed and 13 wounded. The companies had artillery and helicopter gunship support.

U.S. 9th Division infantrymen fought for an hour today with an enemy force 19 miles southwest of Saigon and reported killing 13. There were no American casualties.

But enemy gunners shelled three targets within six miles of Saigon in more harassing attacks today.

Armed Groom Yields to Viet War Promise

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Gunman Wally Mellish, who held his shotgun bride and their baby hostage for seven days while police kept a cordon around him, surrendered today after he was promised a chance to fight in Vietnam.

Mellish, a 22-year-old former mental patient and convicted car thief, was taken to Ingleburn army camp to see if the army would have him.

Mellish's 19-year-old bride and childhood sweetheart, Beryl Muddle, was taken with her 11-week-old son Leslie to her parents. For the time being the police did not enforce a warrant for her arrest for failing to pay a $42 fine for prostitution.

Mellish ended his bizarre holdout after talking for nearly three hours on the telephone with the Rev. Clyde Paton, chaplain at Long Bay Jail. Mellish's chief condition for surrender was that he be given a chance to serve with Australia's forces in Vietnam.

Carrying his baby son, the young man emerged from the house where he had held off police for seven days and six hours with an arsenal of hand grenades, two rifles, and a shotgun and threats to kill his wife and child if the police rushed him.

The young wife followed him from the house.

Mellish started threatening to shoot Miss Muddle and the baby a week ago when police showed up at the house to question him about some stolen car parts. The police put a cordon around the house, but did not try to rush it for fear the young man would carry out his threat.

Police Commissioner Norman T. Allan arranged a wedding for the couple, with the bridegroom holding a shotgun, last Wednesday after Mellish agreed to surrender. Though the commissioner threw in a wedding feast of steak, curried mushrooms and rice pudding plus a $20 wedding ring, Mellish refused to give up.

Allan also turned over to Mellish an armor piercing rifle which Mellish had demanded to "make him equal to the police." The commissioner was censured by the New South Wales Police Association for supplying the weapon, but he maintained the young man wouldn't start shooting as long as he was humored.

"Mr. Allan's patience has been rewarded," New South Wales Premier Robin Askin said after Mellish's surrender. "There will be general relief that the siege resulted in no loss of life. I don't think too many people will now be concerned by some of the more unusual aspects."

Mellish and his wife were taken to a field headquarters set up during the siege. Their baby appeared fit. Officers recovered the weapons from inside the house.

Police said the young woman's role in the holdout was unclear. She passed up several chances to escape and was reported to have shouted insults at police from a veranda.

Lower Traffic Toll Cheers Safety Council

CHICAGO (AP) — The lower-than-expected highway death toll during the Independence Day weekend represents a significant gain in traffic safety, the National Safety Council says.

The council had estimated in advance that between 700 and 800 Americans might die on streets and highways over the four-day weekend. The final toll from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Sunday was 620. This compared with 553 deaths in a nonholiday weekend of equal length.

"The deaths that took place make up a tragic version of the traditional Independence Day parade," Howard Pyle, council president, said Monday. "But the fact there weren't more is an encouraging sign that good sense may yet triumph."

The national record for an Independence Day weekend is 732, set during last year's four-day holiday period.

The council also said Monday that motor vehicle fatalities during the first five months of this year averaged 134 a day. During the Fourth of July weekend they averaged 144.

Rotarians Told To Enlarge Community Service

"The field is wide open for community service," Lennie Whitworth told the Rotary club last night in a speech urging members to enlarge its activities and to add new members.

"Think about where we are going and what we can do," he counseled. "Generate a new project."

Two visiting Rotarians, the Rev. Wendell Ensor, pastor of the First United Methodist church in Pacific Grove, Calif., and Cecil Unger of Jackson, told about beautification projects of their clubs.

Emily Bruce entertained at the piano and President Melvin McMackins presided at the meeting at the Rustic Rock Inn.

Celler in Unfamiliar Role as Gun Registration Foe

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading congressional advocate of federal registration and licensing of guns has taken a major step toward killing a bill to achieve that goal.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee told the House Rules Committee Monday he would oppose any effort to pass a registration and licensing bill if it would endanger a proposal to ban the mail-order sales of rifles and shotguns.

The Rules Committee had the mail-order bill before it today.

"While I'm in favor of registration and licensing," Celler said, "I'm anxious to get a rule on this bill," by which he meant he wanted the proposal in mail-order sales sent to the House floor.

He went on: "In order to get a rule, I'm willing to oppose any amendment offered on the floor of the House dealing with registration and licensing. In conference, I will oppose any attempt to add registration as an amendment to this bill."

President Johnson had proposed to Congress that the ban on the mail-order sale of pistols contained in the recently passed omnibus crime bill be extended to rifles and shotguns. He also asked for the registration of all guns and the licensing of their owners.

Celler was joined by Rep. William M. McCullough of Ohio, ranking Republican on the Judiciary Committee in opposing the registration bill.

McCulloch said he would oppose the registration bill "without qualification. I am fearful that registration legislation at this time would endanger this bill."

He also told the committee he would not have made such a statement "had not I felt that the overwhelming majority if not all the minority felt that way," referring to the Republican members of the judiciary committee.

Several members of the rules committee indicated they could vote for a ban on sales but would oppose the registration of firearms.

Celler and McCulloch would be part of the House team to iron out any differences in House-Senate conference in bills passed by the two bodies.

If opposed to any measure, they could prevent any agreement between the House and the Senate.

Chairman William M. Colmer of the House Rules Committee said he expected a bill banning the interstate sales of firearms to pass the House but he believed it would be weakened by amendments from the floor.

He said many such amendments had been suggested during the hearing of his committee which lasted some six hours Monday, even though the meeting was broken up often by roll call votes on the floor.

Several witnesses appearing before Colmer's committee opposed giving the measure a rule which would prevent it from reaching the floor.

In the Senate Monday, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark testified before the juvenile delinquency subcommittee and said "the ghost of abolition" provides no excuse for failing to pass firearms registration and licensing legislation.

Clark said he knows of no responsible group advocating complete abolition of private ownership of firearms.

The parent Senate Judiciary Committee is to take up the gun control question Wednesday. The committee scheduled the meeting two weeks ago after it bogged down in debate over whether to tack registration and licensing to a mail order ban on long guns and ammunition—a dilemma similar to that confronting the House Rules Committee.

Americans are supposed to believe in the unimpeded flow of news.

Sometimes we wonder if they really do.

So many people are unable to identify self interest with freedom of information.

So few recognize that when freedom is denied one person it injuries everyone's freedom.

Freedom for too many Americans is something of a theory. It seems to be remote to their lives. The opposite is true of those who live in countries, which have lost their freedom. They yearn for it. They try to escape from oppression. Once denied freedom is cherished. It is the one thing that many people want most.

It is disconcerting to note that freedom of information is not growing as civilization advances.

The Freedom of Information Center at the University of Missouri found in a 1966 survey that 55 countries had a free press. In 1967 the number had dropped to 47.

Statistics don't tell the whole story. There are many different shades of freedom. It is difficult to apply an accurage yardstick.

Without question the United States is one of the leaders in freedom of information but it is threatened constantly.

The threats are seldom of the block buster type.

Sometimes they suit the convenience of the news source but not the news media. Sometimes they are designed to give the news sources the best possible image. Sometimes they are designed to cover up developments considered by the news source to be unfavorable to him.

Contrasted with these efforts, of course, are those who seek more publicity than events warrant.

Those who carry the news to the people must try to strike a balance, which will interest the greatest number of people, not any individual or group.

It is a demanding responsibility even in a country, where information is repurted to flow freely.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE . . .

According to a report from Washington, most of us have this misconception: The federal government will soon go on a drastic economy binge as a result of the 6-billion spending cut that Congress has ordered in passing the new 10 per cent surtax.

The fact is that spending will stay around 186 billions in the next fiscal year, starting July 1. We are told that this is what the government planned to spend according to President Johnson's earlier estimates but then in recent months was headed higher . .,. until Congress insisted on these cuts as part of its deal to pass the increased tax bill.

Actually, Congress is merely holding President Johnson down to near his original spending estimate and trying to keep the budget deficit at about 8 billions.

So taxpayers should withhold their applause and keep ever-after their congressmen to whack government spending further.

The Flag could be displayed more often.

It is a beautiful banner. It displays red, white and blue to best advantage. It is nicely balanced and poised.

The design for the Flag was not hastily conceived.

When it ripples in the breeze it stirs the heart.

Earlier flags reflected the troubled times in which they were designed. They lacked the beauty and grace of Old Glory.

While the Flag should be displayed more often than it is, it is more important that it became a permanent fixture of the heart.

The late Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, expressed the need for this eloquently in writing about "The Meaning of the Flag."

"I am sorry that you do not wear a little flag of the Union every day instead of some days. I can only ask you, if you lose the physical emblem, to be sure that you wear it in your heart, and the heart of America shall interpret the heart of the world."

Let's keep the faith.

THE COURT AND THE SENATE

The Senate Judiciary Committee will consider on Thursday, July 11, President Johnson's nominations of Homer Thornberry as a Supreme Court Justice and Abe Fortas as Chief Justice.

The argument against President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations is political rather than philosophical. Pushing the fight is Sen. Robert P. Griffin (R—Mich.), who calls the nominations acts of "cronyism" by a "lame duck" President.

Griffin leads a group of 18 other Republican Senators who signed a round-robin letter opposing the nominations. But, and most significantly, Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen (R—Ill.), on July 2, said that a majority of Senate Republicans now favor the confirmation of Abe Fortas as Chief Justice and W. Homer Thornberry as an associate Justice. Dirksen said at least two of the 19 round-robin signers were prepared to vote to confirm.

Dirksen said full confirmation could follow within two days or a week after the Senate Judiciary Committee completes hearings scheduled to open July 11. But the timing is chancy. Hearings could take up a full week and discussions another. Only a small group would be needed to mount a filibuster. Dirksen is confident, he says, that he can muster the votes for cloture. But August 2 is the target date for adjournment of the present session of Congress.

"Since 1900," writes Joseph P. Harris, "only five nominations to the Supreme Court have faced serious opposition in the Senate: those of Brandeis (1916), Stone (1925), Hughes and Parker (1920), and Black (1937). In every case the opposition was due to the philosophy and supposed stand of the nominee on social and economic issues rather than to partisan considerations."

Dirksen calls Justice Fortas "a very able lawyer" and Judge Thornberry "a very solid citizen." Justice Fortas had ruled in general with the "activist" wing of the court. Thornberry's early record in Congress was mixed, but in later years it showed a steady trend toward a liberal position.

In any event, it always is a mistake to think you can predict how a judge will rule. Felix Frankfurter was perhaps the classic example of this principle. A strong influence in the New Deal prior to appointment, he was supposed to walk on the left side of the road. As it turned out, he became the leader of the so-called conservative wing of the Warren Court.

Justice Black, on the other hand, has been quite unpredictable. A paradoxical adage has it that a political liberal, when elevated to the Bench, tends to rule more nearly by the doctrine of STARE DECISIS (to let prior decisions control) than does a conservative.

Should the Senate refuse to confirm the Fortas and Thornberry nominations, President Johnson could always appoint them directly after the Chamber recesses. Retiring Chief Justice Warren was himself a recess appointee, as were Justices Potter Stewart and William J. Brennan, Jr. Sen. William Langer (R—N.D.), charged that Warren as governor of California was dominated by a "liquor lobbyist," abetted corruption, and followed "the Marxist line." Brennan was accused by the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, (R—Wis.), of using his New Jersey judgeship to smear "anyone who opposed Communists in the government."

It would be especially unfortunate if a recess appointee were rejected after helping to decide cases. That happened back in 1795, and with a Chief Justice. John Rutledge, C. J., was ultimately rejected by the Senate because he denounced the Jay Treaty while on the Bench.

A dude was a guy who wore spats; a fop was a guy who not only wore spats—he also sported a rattan cane.

During the flapper era of the 1920s—40 years before the arrival of the miniskirt—it was agreed by headshaking moralists that women had never worn less in public or looked worse.

Among the prized possessions of every small boy was a flattened penny he had put on the street car tracks to be run over by a trolley.

Sports fans were more innocent about their heroes. They were more interested in how many home runs Babe Ruth hit in a year than how much he got for doing it.

Men who chewed tobacco referred to cigarettes as "coffin nails" and told anyone who smoked them that he was in danger of getting tuberculosis.

If you didn't know what else to do on election day you could usually go to the polls and vote for William Jennings Bryan.

A mother wept if some heartless gossip told her that her son had been seen emerging from a pool hall in broad daylight.

A kid never really enjoyed a piece of watermelon unless he ate it on the back porch and managed to get both ears wet.

You generally got what you paid for. Nobody tried to charge you a nickel for a penny post card.

Those were the days! Remember?

'Isn't It a Wonderful Feeling?'

The motor vehicle can be as much a lethal weapon as a firearm, it was noted by Colonel E.I. (Mike) Hockaday, the Superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

"A motor vehicle is a lethal weapon everytime it is not driven safely," Hockaday noted. "It was not designed to cause injury and death. Yet, when used incorrectly a motor vehicle is a deadly mass of steel. A firearm, on the other hand, is by its nature a lethal weapon."

The Patrol Superintendent observed that there has been much discussion recently on new gun control laws. He noted that thousands of people have written their congressmen and newspapers urging either the passage or rejection of a new firearm law. A nation-wide one-week survey taken a few weeks ago on the number of persons killed by gunshots showed that nearly two hundred persons died from bullet wounds during the studied period.

"While the concern for firearm legislation is well taken and the gunshot fatality toll study alarming, this problem is not as acute as our traffic fatality situation," Hockaday stated. "Last year, for example, 53,100 people were killed by motor vehicles in the country. This was an average of over one thousand traffic deaths each week of the year. The traffic toll so far this year is on the increase from that of last year.

"The public would do well to review their attitude on traffic safety," the Colonel concluded. "If people would show as much concern over the traffic carnage currently being experienced on our streets and highways, as they have shown over firearm legislation, much could be done to reduce the rising traffic toll."

A college was using an IBM machine to match boys and girls for dates. A technician would feed data about the kids into the machine, push a button, and in a few seconds out would come the results. One guy filled out his data card and said he was 6 feet 3 and good looking. Actually, he was 3 feet 6 and not good looking. One girl wrote down that she was a perfect 36. Actually, she was 12-12-12. The machine called these two a perfect match - both liars!

HYDRONIC HEATING
A GROWING FAVORITE WITH HOMEOWNERS

The increased use of home hydronic (hot water) heating systems in recent years is attributed to new developments and product improvements. One of the significant new advancements is the use of smaller pipe sizes, which has reduced installation costs substantially. Also, new designs in hydronic baseboards have enabled contractors to greatly speed up installation time. Package boilers, zoning and highly sensitive controls are other new trends contributing to the "hydronic popularity boom" among homeowners.

H.L. Hunt Says

TREATMENT OF STUDENT REVOLUTIONARIES

During student uprisings on campuses throughout the country, leaders of the rioters have usually demanded complete amnesty for all those who participated. Sadly, many college and university administrators surrendered to this demand.

But others realized that allowing guilty students to go unpunished increases the likelihood of even worse riots in the future. These administrators took firm action so that those responsible had to face the consequences of their unlawful behavior.

At the University of Virginia students were warned they would be immediately suspended if they seized university property or engaged in other unlawful acts. The Chancellor of the University of Denver expelled students who attempted to gain approval of their demands by the use of force and violence.

The House of Representatives has also taken action against revolutionary students. Shortly after the worst of the student riots, the House voted 306-54 to cancel federal scholarships and grants to students participating in campus uprisings. This is a logical action because students who have shown themselves incapable of acting responsibly do not deserve to have their education subsidized by the taxpayer.

Since persuasive evidence shows many of the demonstrations are led and supported by groups sympathetic to communism, decisive action must be taken to see that members of those groups are not allowed to dominate campus affairs.

For the sake of the many decent students who are trying to obtain an education, revolutionary students must be swiftly and appropriately punished. Those who have refused to allow students to escape responsibility for their actions deserve our congratulations. HLH.

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Gun Bill backers muff chance to win controls battle; Smathers, Scott and Kennedy failed to appear for vote; Vitriol barrage against Fortas reminiscent of past Nixon technique

WASHINGTON — Passage of laws for the American people sometimes turns on very little things. The other day the passage of a gun control bill turned on the fact that three senators were not willing to spend a few extra minutes in the Senate Judiciary Committee. The gun control bill lost.

The Judiciary Committee was considering the Tydings Gun Control Bill, which has the backing of men such as Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana but the bitter opposition of the National Rifle Association. It provides that each state shall be given time to work out its own gun registration system before the Federal Government steps in. President Johnson favors a stronger bill requiring Federal registration from the start.

Sponsoring the former bill along with Tydings were Sens. George Smathers, D—Fla., and Hugh Scott, R—Pa. Also strongly backing the bill was Sen. Teddy Kennedy, D—Mass., brother of the two men who were victims of the assassin's bullet.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is strongly stacked with southern fundamentalists and Republican vocalists for the gun lobby. They range from big Jim Eastland of Mississippi to John McClellan of Arkansas and Sam Ervin of North Carolina, among the southern fundamentalists, to Roman Hruska of Nebraska, the rootin', tootin' spokesman for the National Rifle Association who has been doing his best to delay any legislation. He figures that the longer the delay, the more the assassination of Bobby Kennedy in Los Angeles will be forgotten.

In between there are Quentin Burdick of North Dakota, the quiet spokesman for Prairie pheasant game hunters, and Ed Long of Missouri, who has a hard time making up his mind on gun control.

When gun control was debated in the Judiciary Committee the other day, all these anti-control men were present. But three backers of the bill were not.

Sen. Tydings argued eloquently. He also used the telephone. Frantically he called two cosponsors of the bill, Smathers of Florida and Scott of Pennsylvania. They said they would come for the vote. But somehow or other they never arrived.

Tydings also called Ted Kennedy, a member of the committee, who was passionately, tragically interested in gun control. Teddy wanted to be told a few minutes before the Judiciary Committee vote so he could get there at the last minute. But he never arrived.

The Gun Control bill, which it was hoped would discourage more assassinations such as those of President Kennedy, Sen. Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King, was stymied in committee by a 7 to 5 vote. If the three senators who favored the legislation had taken the trouble to be present, the vote would have been the other way around.

Another vote is due in the Judiciary Committee this week. It will be interesting to see whether the three Senators this time are present.

—TELEPHONE HATE TACTICS

This column may have been too optimistic when we reported on July 4 that the old era of Joe McCarthyism was no more.

Almost before that column was published, a telephone barrage, similar to that operated by Richard Nixon's campaign managers when he first defeated Rep. Jerry Voorhees for Congress, was buzzing over the telephone lines in Washington. The Nixon technique, used both against Voorhees and later Helen Gahagan Douglas, was to charge them with being pro-Communist.

The same technique, coupled with anti-semitism, was used this time against Abe Fortas, to block his confirmation to the Supreme Court. Those who dialed 528-4357 listened to a message from the National Socialist White People's party pouring out a stream of anti-semitic hate against Fortas.

"In this nation of 150 million white Aryans," said the telephone message, "it seems that Mr. Johnson couldn't find a single qualified person to fill that important post. Instead he dug up this despicable Jew with a red record that smells to high heaven, and what a record it is. Here are some of the highlights:

"Fortas was for a period associated with the National Lawyers Guid, a notorious Communist front cited by the Attorney General of the United States. He was publicly associated with the known Soviet agents Alger Hiss and Harry Dexter White.

"Fortas was instrumental in bringing about the Supreme Court School Busing decision whereby millions of white children are delivered each school day into the hands of young Negro hoodlums and rapists in thousands of blackboard jungles across the nation. It was Abe Fortas who cast the decisive fifth vote in the infamous Miranda vs Arizona decision.

"There is too much in the Fortas record to list here. If you are a white American concerned about the growing anti-white trend in this country, contact the National Socialist White People's Party.

"We need your support. This has been another in a continuing series of white power messages."

Nineteen Republican senators, led by Robert Griffin of Michigan, are furthering this anti-semitic campaign by organizing a filibuster to block Fortas' confirmation.

Note—The 18 GOP senators in addition to Griffin are: Allott, Colo., Baker, Tenn., Bennett, Utah, Carlson, Kans., Cotton, N.H., Curtis, Neb., Fannin, Ariz., Fong, Hawaii, Hansen, Wyo., Jordan, Idaho, Miller, Iowa, Morton, Ky., Mundt, S.D., Murphy, Calif., Thurmond, S.C., Tower, Tex., Williams, Del., and Young, N.D.

Personal Report From Ramsey Clark; U.S. Now Cracking the Cosa Nostra

Some years ago, the late Bob Kennedy produced a small, slight, gravel-voiced hoodlum, put him on the witness stand and let him "sing." And sing, indeed, did Joe Valachi, For the first time, even the experts learned how little they had known of the underworld.

Joe Valachi threw a new phrase into the American criminal jargon -- La Cosa Nostra. For the first time we learned of its fiery and primordial rites and channels of command.

But what has been done to fight the complex of mobs which has been called the second government..? Can such a muscled, heavily armed empire reportedly worth $150 billion - repeat $150 billion—really be fought?

It is being fought? How can it survive despite the assault by what should be the most powerful law enforcement agency in the free world?

The other day I put these same queries to U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark. Here is his reply, written exclusively for this column:

By Ramsey Clark
Attorney General of the United States

Washington -- Federally corrdinated law enforcement is engaged in the most intensive and successful attack on organized crime ever undertaken on a multicity basis. New manpower, resources and techniques will further strengthen the attack in coming months.

The federal response to organized crime, sporadic at best until the 1960s, today is comprehensive and effective. Its top priority in the Depeartment of Justice is reflected by assignment of more attorneys than ever before to the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section, headed by veteran crime-fighter Henry Petersen.

Indictments in cases handled by the section have increased steadily -- from 17 in 1960, to 262 in 1963, to a record 668 last year.

Of 183 known members of La Cosa Nostra indicted or convicted during the past dozen years, 55 were indicted or convicted last year. Included were some of the highest ranking members of this major crime syndicate ever brought to justice.

J. Edgar Hoover has said that 1967 "marked one of the most effective all-out drives against organized crime in the history of law enforcement."

The drive includes a new and effective technique, the Strike Force concept. Strike Forces, teams of attorneys and investigators from key federal agencies, have been dispatched to three centers of organized crime. Additional Strike Forces are being formed.

The Department of Justice is conducting meetings in major cities across the country to improve coordination among not only federal but also state and local agencies.

A constant flow of criminal intelligence is supplied to local law enforcement by federal agencies. In 1967, more than 750 raids were conducted and 3,700 arrests made as a result of intelligence disseminated by the FBI.

To further intensify the federal drive, the Department of Justice is seeking Congressional authority to enlarge the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section staff from about 100 to more than 160. The proposed increase would include 20 attorneys for Strike Force duty.

Although law enforcement is primarily a local responsibility, a federal respone to organized crime is clearly needed because of its interstate aspects and its proven ability to neutralize local law enforcement.

Many find it difficult to believe there is organized crime, but its existence is confirmed by history, experience and reason. It surfaced in the United States in the last decades of the 19th century and matured during the prohibition era.

In a society where nearly every form of human activity is organized, would it be realistic to believe criminal activity would not be? Crime has proven far too profitable in our society to expect an absence of organization in its execution.

The activities of organized crime are wide ranging. Gambling is its greatest source of income and loan sharking ranks second. Extortion, blackmail and shakedowns are frequent practices. Importation and wholesaling of narcotics engage many groups.

Increased sophistication and affluence have led organized crime into many legitimate businesses, labor activites and government services and contracts, licensing and zoning.

Generally, organized crime supplies goods or services wanted by a large number of people. It cannot operate extensively without protection. Significant gambling, shylocking, narcotics traffic and other continuing criminal acts cannto long escape the notice of law enforcement.

Perhaps the greatest harm to come from organized crime is corruption of officials. This affects a community in many ways. Where some police are corrupt, bribed, the moral climate of the whole community is likely to be affected.

Despite the federal successes of today and tomorrow, Americans should not look to Washington for an ultimate solution to he problem of roganized crime.

Local police outnumber federal police nearly 18 to 1. They patrol the streets and public area, and see and know the activities of the people.

It is state and local laws that are usually violated by racketeering activities and their enforcement is the duty of local police.

Although the size and scope of organized crime is difficult to measure, there are indications that hard-hitting law enforcement efforts of recent years have at least contained if not reduced its power.

While most types of crime can only be controlled and reduced, organized crime can be virtually eliminated. There are whole nations and societies relatively free of its scourge.

The key step must be professionalization of local law enforcement: paying salaries that will attract the best among us, raising standards, training officers to meet the varieties of criminal standards, training officers to meet the varieties of criminal conduct, providing research and development, developing organization and leadership to bring excellence to local law enforcement throughout the nation.

Organized crime cannot flourish in any community willing to pay for and support effective law enforcement. A community's success or failure in controlling crime, organized or otherwise, will in the final analysis be determined by its people.

Television Welcomes Singer Patti Page

NOTE — A woman performer, particularly a singer, who admits to having passed her 30th birthday, is rarer than a passenger pigeon. Patti Page, one of the well-established musical stars, explains frankly that it's not vanity, but self-preservation.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —I'm grateful for this opportunity to thank those of you who saw me on the Ed Sullivan Show, Music Hall and other television series and wrote how pleased you were that I had come out of retirement.

Appreciative as I am, I must make a confession. I did not retire—unless you call seven months on the road in night clubs and recording two albums and eight singles annually retirement.

It was the other way around. TV retired from me— and from such talented female singers as Rosie Clooney, Kay Starr, Jo Stafford, Polly Bergen and, to a lesser extent, Dinah Shore and Peggy Lee. These singers not only dominated the record industry's "charts" in the 1950's but television as well. Most of us had our own TV series. In fact, Dinah and I had our own shows for several seasons.

Then something awful happened. We became 'older girls'.

In an industry where everyone was suddenly competing to appeal to the "youth market," we were guilty of the most serious sin of all—having past our 30th birthdays. It seemed as though the only way to be seen on television, until last year, was to be a long-haired, shortskirted teeniebopper who either gurued with a guru or went "up, up and away" with the Rolling Stones.

The result, unfortunately, was that a lot of girls in micromini skirts were revealed to have micromini talents as well. Spirited away from the electronic sanctuary of a modern recording studio, and thrust before the TV cameras, they could do little but look sexy as they frugged and bugalooed and desperately lipsynched their latest "hits."

Others, with marvelous potential, were pushed too far too fast. At a time when they should have been learning how to create that delicate rapport between performer and audience — which distinguishes an adequate club singer from a star— they were being rushed from one TV guest shot to another.

The teeniebopper still lead the big parade, but we're seeing more and more of the veterans.

Dinah Shore made several guest appearances last season.

Managers Look For Pitching Battle

HOUSTON (AP) — Managers Dick Williams of the American League and Red Schoendienst of the National League, both noting it has been the year of the pitcher, predict a low-scoring mound duel in baseball's 39th annual All-Star Game tonight in the spacious Astrodome.

Great Cigarillos—tipped or regular GO KING EDWARD
America's Largest Selling Cigar

Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals, who will start 10game winner Don Drysdale of Los Angeles, said, "I lean toward a pitcher's game. This has been the year of big zero."

Williams of the Boston Red Sox agrees. "I would say it will be a pitchers' battle," he said. "The pitchers should predominate."

He named herky-jerky righthander Louis Tiant of Cleveland, a 14-game winner to start for the American.

A standing-room crowd of over 50,000 is expected for the game starting at 8:15 EDT (7:15 Sikeston time) in the air conditioned stadium built by Judge Roy Hofheinz, owner of the Houston Astros.

The AL went through an hour workout Monday afternoon under order from American League President Joe Cronin to get the feel of the synthetic turf. Most American Leaguers have never played in the Dome.

The National holds a 20-17 series edge, including five straight and nine of the last 10. The National is a 7-5 favorite.

This caused Williams to remark after he pitched batting practice: "We sure didn't come down here to lose."

The American Leaguers adjusted quickly to the fast surface of the carpet-like turf.

Brooks Robinson, Baltimore third baseman, said, "The ball bounces true but it sure gets through the infield quick. I'd like to hit here all year. It would probably add 25 points to your batting average."

Giant Frank Howard of Washington, the leading home run hitter in the majors with 25, said he didn't think the ball carried very well.

Howard then proceeded to rip several shots into the left field seats—one over the 380 mark.

The Astrodome has dimensions of 340 feet down each line. It's 406 feet to dead center.

Some of the American League stars weren't on hand for the practice session, including Carl Yastrzemski and Ken Harrelson of Boston, Bill Freeman of Detroit and Mickey Mantle of New York, the team captain and first player ever to hit a homer in the Astrodome.

Asked about the missing players, Williams said, "They've got commitments. The game's tomorrow not today."

Tiant admitted that he was tired from pitching 6 1-3 innings Sunday but said he could go two hard innings.

"This is most important start in my life," Tiant said. "It's one of the biggest breaks I've ever had."

Williams said he started Tiant because "I think he's a damn fine pitcher. We may not have the name guys they have on the National League squad, but we do have some fellows who can play this game."

Officials said an estimated 55 million persons will watch the game over the National Broadcasting Co. television hookup in the United States, with another eight million viewing in Mexico. Joe Medwick, former Cardinal great and latest member of the Hall of Fame, will throw out the first ball.

Stars Win Tourney

Sikeston's Babe Ruth All-Stars, in their first tournament appearance of the season, made away with the top prize Sunday afternoon at VFW stadium by taking Lilbourn 9—3 and winning their own invitational tournament.

The All-Stars made their way into the Sunday afternoon finals by edging defending tournament champion, Chaffee 1—0, Saturday night while Lilbourn handed Charleston a 10—3 loss to move into the opposite position from the Stars.

Tournament play started Monday with 12 teams battling for first place.

Don Miller did the pitching choirs for the Stars against Chaffee and allowed no runs on two hits, collecting nine strike outs.

The Stars managed four hits off Chaffee hurler, Dave Buchanan, and one run in the second inning on John Scarbrough's triple that drove home Girard Hunt, who had reached base on a fielders' choice.

Lilbourn scored in each inning on its way to its 10—3 semifinal win over Charleston. Phil Hillis took the win for Lilbourn, which collected eight hits, two each by Grant Dambach and David McClarty.

Sunday's consolation game was of the wild sort. Chaffee took a 9—0 lead going into the four inning only to have Charleston cut that margin to 9—3, add six more runs in the fifth for a 9—9 tie and take the win in the sixth with a four-run inning.

Lilbourn opened the championship round with two runs in the first inning against the Stars Gary Vaught.

The Stars returned in the second to match the score at 2—2 and then went ahead with a tally in the third inning. They had the sacks full with only one out and were unable to score again. Lilbourn's Phil Hillis halted the threat with a strike out and forced the last batter to pop out.

Lilbourn made up one run in the fourth on one hit, trailing 5—3, but Vaught assisted by Miller checked the Lilbourn nine on one hit in the last three innings while the team backed them with four runs and five hits. It posted the win on 12 hits.

Lilbourn's Hillis was the tournament's most valuable player and Chaffee received the sportsmanship trophy.

Over the past 20 years, the problems of our farmers have become crucial. Last year alone, his income was down about 11%. But had there been no government farm program, his income would have decreased an additional 36%, according to the Department of Agriculture Economic Research Service. So our starting point is an extension of the Agriculture Act of 1965. It can be improved by increasing farmer payments and supports, by formation of a national security reserve of farm products, and by development of a system of bargaining between farmers and processors to increase farmer income.

The eighth annual Missouri Girls Golf Association Tournament will be played over the Country Club course at Chillicothe July 29 and 30. Practice rounds will be held July 28.

The 36-hole medal play tournament is open to girls aged 12 through 17. Flights will be set up on the basis of established handicaps.

Last year's winner was Paula Eger of Kirkwood. She finished 10 strokes ahead of her nearest rival.

A driving contest and a hole-in-one comtest are planned in conjunction with the tournament.

A scholarship to the University of Missouri is awarded each year to a deserving contestant, chosen on the basis of interest in golf, good sportsmanship, personality, financial need, scholastic ability and achievement.

Betty Anderson of Springfield was awarded the scholarship for 1968 at least year's tournament.

Entry deadline for the tournament is July 14.

Veteran tight ends Marline McKeever and Monty Stickles will be wearing new colors in the National Football League this fall.

The Washington Redskins acquired McKeever from the Minnesota Vikings in a trade Friday night for former all-prosafety Paul Krause.

The San Francisco 49ers dealt Stickles to New Orleans for another defenseive back, George Rose.

In another football development Tom Moore, who played five years with the Lreen Bay Packers before being traded to Los Angeles and then Atlanta, announced he is retiring from professional football to devote full time to a real estate business.

Moore, 29, was the first college player signed by Vince Lombardi in his rebuilding of the Packers. Moore led the NFL in kickoff returns in his rookie year.

Willie Mays and Mickey Mantle will captain their respective squads in the 39th renewal of the All-Star Game in the Houston Astrodome next Tuesday.

The San Francisco and New York Yankee superstars were named today by the All-Star managers, Red Schoendienst of the National League and Dick Williams of the American League, because of their long and outstanding services in prior games.

The idea of team captains was suggested by Commissioner William D. Eckert. One of their duties will be to present the lineup cards to the umpires before the start of the game.

MONTREAL (AP) — Canada will send a team of 150 athletes and 30 officials to the Olympic Games in Mexico City in October, it was disclosed Monday.

The squad will be sent in three sections. Those participating in long-distance will go to Alamosa, Colo., Sept. 14 to let them become acclimatized to high altitudes. Another group will leave for Mexico City Sept. 22 and the final detachment will depart for Mexico City Sept. 28.

HANNOVER, Germany (AP) — Ingo Buding, Wilhelm Bungert, Hans-Joachim Ploetz and Juergen Fassbender will comprise the West German team that will face South Africa in the European Zone A finals of the Davis Cup tennis competition July 19-21 in Duesseldorf.

CINCINNATI AP — Joe Nuxhall, the youngest player ever to appear in a major league baseball game, Thursday was named to the Cincinnati Reds' Hall of Fame.

College All-Star Game Could Be Affected By NFL Impasse

CHICAGO (AP) — National Football League owners sounded the alarm button Monday night.

Art Modell, owner of the Cleveland Browns and president of the NFL, announced that "pro football faces a long and disastrous strike" and then called for a full meeting of owners in Chicago today.

Modell's statement came after the NFL's Players Association said it had failed to resolve its disagreement with the owners over player pensions.

The players are seeking additional pension funds before the 1970 deadline desired by the owners.

Both groups met on the outskirts of Chicago Monday but reached no conclusion.

While the owners refused to give in to the players, the question of the All-Star Game arrived.

Vince Lombardi, general manager of the Green Bay Packers, who as the champions of pro football, must meet the College All-Stars in Chicago Aug. 2, said "the game will have to be delayed or canceled" unless the Packers have at least three weeks to get ready."

This resulted from an ultimatum by Modell to hold off the opening of all pro football camps until the present matter is settled.

The San Francisco 49ers were to open their rookie camp Sunday and the Packers were among those scheduled to start workouts Wednesday.

George Strickler, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune whose Chicago Tribune charities sponsors the All-Star Game, said, "Our contract is with professional football including the National Football and the American Football League.

"Our coaches are here and our squad will assemble Thursday and begin workouts Friday. We'll fulfill our end of our contract and we hope professional football will fill its end."

Meanwhile, Modell issued a statement that said, "Despite having granted 21 demands of the players' union, pro football faces a long and disastrous strike on the sole issue of granting pension benefits in 1968 to players, who on the average, will not be eligible to receive such benefits until the year 2,000."

The players' stand, held by John Gordy of the Detroit Lions who also is president of the Players' Association, is that the owners cannot contract for any amount of money cconcerning 1970 "when they do not know what the situation will be then."

The owners claim they have granted 21 demands to the players and the union's leaders "have taken the position that such an agreement cannot be concluded until the ultimate merger with the American Football League is completed."

Modell, meanwhile, refused to claim the players' group is striking. He calls it an "impasse."

DANTE'S INFERNO? No, this man is walking into a swirling mass of steam rising from pools of boiling water lying miles beneath the earth's surface. It seeps continually from natural escape vents in the land near Cloverdale, Calif. Geologists estimate the giant cauldron will continue to send up steam for at least another 1,000 years.

RESOLUTION

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of 1 ½" hotmix asphaltic pavement on 6" soil cement base with concrete curb and gutters on Lions Street from Malone to Adams Street in accordance with plans and specifications in the City of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Sikeston, State of Missouri, as follows: Section 1: That the Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said Street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the City of Sikeston. Section 2: That the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. Section 3: That the estimated cost of the improvement is $4.60 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. Section 4: That payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the State of Missouri and the ordinances of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the City Council the General Revenue fund of the City of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. Section 5: That any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the State of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the Industrial Commission of Missouri. Section 6: That the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this Resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the City of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 1st day of July, 1968.

Approved: Kendall Sikes, Mayor;

Ann Landers

Non Nagging Mother Wins Praise

Dear Ann Landers: I was especially interested in your reply to the mother whose six-year-old insisted on dragging her faded, worn-out blanket everywhere. You said, "Leave her alone. She'll give it up when she's ready. I've never heard of a child taking a baby blanket on a honeymoon."

Well, Ann, stick around for a few more years and you might hear of it. Our son Johnny is 15. His baby blanket fell apart years ago (he dragged it around until there was nothing left). Then he developed a dandy substitute. Johnny twists the corners of his bedsheets into sharp little peaks and of course the sheets wear out in no time at all.

I am not complaining because apparently this twisting has filled an emotional need. Johnny has always been a wonderful son, a fine student, mechanically inclined and good in athletics. He is a thoughtful boy and never caused us any trouble. Perhaps letting him drag his blanket all those years and now twisting the sheets have given him the satisfaction other kids find in drag racing and breaking the law for "kicks."

If, when Johnny marries, he wants a baby blanket to take on his honeymoon, I'll buy him one. -- WOULDN'T TRADE

Dear Wouldn't: Your insight and wisdom have paid off. I wish more parents had it. Too often children are nagged about trivial things which should be ignored -- like dragging blankets around and twisting sheets.

Dear Ann Landers: Your column on free love is additional proof that you always side with the women. Here's how it looks from a male point of view.

I am 30 years of age, a confirmed bachelor who never once mentioned marriage to a woman. I've had 32 affairs in the last three years and four turn-downs. I'm not handsome, not rich, not a great talker and I never made an active pitch in my life. My record of conquests is proof that American women are the most aggressive, sex-hungry females in the world. When I lived in Europe I didn't get one-third the propositions I get in California.

Now what do you say? -- TRANSATLANTIC

Dear Trans: I say horsefeathers. If you never made a pitch in your life, how come the turn-downs? Your record proves only one thing -- any dame can have an affair if she sets her standards low enough.

Dear Ann Landers: I read with interest the letter from the legal secretary who refused to notarize papers unless she had seen the parties sign.

Good for her. I, too, am inflexible in this regard -- so inflexible, in fact, that I've been referred to as "that screwball." But it paid off.

Recently we handled a deed. I notarized the signatures of all five heirs. A lawyer of questionable character stated that all five signatures had been affixed by one person. He even lined up a phony handwriting "expert" to support his charges. The fool was laughed out of sight. Several witnesses said, "That screwball would never notarize a signature she didn't witness with her own eyes" -- and that ended it. ---UTICA, N.Y.

Dear U.: How refreshing to find someone who sticks to the rules even in the face of ridicule. There is so much compromising, bending and breaking these days, I doff my bonnet to you for setting a fine example.

Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure; Read the booklet "Alcoholism -- Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If You Were the Judge

Courthouse Picketing Held to Be Illegal

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Loquacious Larry didn't approve of certain decisions being handed down by a court and decided to exercise his freedom of speech. He painted some signs and began to picket the courthouse and, while Larry believed in free speech, the local policemen decided Larry was too free with his. The result? The picket got a ticket for violating a state law that prohibited the picketing of a courthouse.

When brought before the judge, Larry insisted that the state law violated his constitutional rights.

"A man has a constitutional right to speak his mind," Larry argued vehemently. "While a court may have the authority to judge the errors of others, it can't avoid criticism for perpetuating its own. If a man wants to criticize the decisions of judges, he has a constitutional right to do so by picketing the courthouse."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you consider the statute prohibiting the picketing of a courthouse invalid?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a state has a legitimate interest in protecting its judicial system from pressures that picketing courthouses might create. In so ruling, the judge pointed out that freedom of speech has its limitations; that "the most stringent protection of free speech would not protect a man in falsely shouting 'fire' in a theater and causing a panic."

DAILY SIKESTON STANDARD

We who love our country are not out-numbered, but out-managed. There are 30,000 hard-core communists in the U.S. who are, with some success, organized against 198,949,113 non-communists. We can join whatever freedom movement we choose or start one and thereby become loosely or intensely organized.

We should not hate nor ignore dupes and stooges. They hould be given credit for never being apathetic for they are anxious to "take a side". Converts are more diligent and dedicated than the average; they want action and can become fine recruits for the Freedom side. Converts exemplify a fine testimonial to the activity of patriots who have converted them and may become mutually esteemed friends.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Paid for by one interested in the re-election of J. E. Childress, County Judge, 1st District, Scott County.

The following article is to inform the public of some of the duties and responsibilities of the County Court: This is a part-time job; Court meets Monday of each week and any other day necessary to hear any group interested in Road and Bridge Work, County Drainage problems, County Extension, County Welfare, County Library Service, other agencies and individuals. In January, the Court meets with all county officials to approve annual budgets. Most salaries and some clerical pay is set by law, the balance according to needs and funds available. $7200 (Seventy-two Hundred) is budgeted for the combined salaries of all three County Court Judges. All of this amount will not be used.

The following mentions only a few agencies with whom the County Court cooperates. Order in which they appear does not denote importance: Welfare Department--Match funds for distribution of surplus commodities and sponsor two case workers for placing children in Foster Homes. County Extension Work--Approximately $13,000 (Thirteen thousand dollars) in 1968; Delta Community Hospital --$2500 (Twenty-five hundred) for indigent care, plus occasional payment for emergency cases; Library and Health Department is supported by a levy voted by the people; Regional Planning Committee, a new agency created last year, sponsored by Gov. Hearnes and passed by the Legislature-- Most towns and cities and the County Court support this financially.

It would be impossible to mention everything the Court does. However, I must mention the improvements to our Court House. Central Air Conditioning of the Circuit Court Room, paid for by the Scott County Bar Association. Work completed by County Court includes: Refinished seats in Court Room, Painted interior, new tile floor in Detention Cell, Jury Room and Conference Rooms, New plumbing in rest room. New terrazzo floors and steps on first and second floors, new plumbing fixtures and floors in the Public rest rooms, New Entrances complete with aluminum doors. This all represents about $50,000.

These improvements were long overdue. This is all paid for, and the Court believes it worth the taxpayer's time to stop in and see these improvements. I believe you will agree.

Scott County Road Machinery is adequate and is in good repair; salaries and vacation pay for our road men are not all we would like for them, but a step in the right direction has been made.

Enough tax revenue was received in December 1967 to finance all expenditures until 1968 taxes are due. Scott County has paid NO INTEREST on protested warrants for some time. Interest has been collected on certificates of deposit on funds to be used at a later date. Scott County is in good shape financially. We believe part of the credit is due your County Court.

As a member of the Scott County Court, I have no other political ambitions. Won't you come out and vote in August and Support your "Conservative Judge."

Today In U.S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, July 9, the 191st day of 1968. There are 175 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1816, Argentina declared its independence from Spain.

In 1776, news of the signing of the Declaration of Independence reached New York. Gen. George Washington summoned his soldiers and had the document read to them.

In 1819, the inventor of the sewing machine, Elias Howe, was born in Spencer, Mass.

In 1850, President Zachary Taylor died at the White House — after serving only one year and four months of his term.

In 1940, the Duke of Windsor was named governor of the Bahamas.

In 1943, Allied forces invaded Sicily in World War II.

In 1947, the engagement of Britain's Princess Elizabeth to Lt. Philip Mountbatten was announced.

Ten years ago — The Soviet Union demanded that a technical meeting in Geneva on banning nuclear tests devote itself to the question of an immediate halt to all testing.

Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy proposed that U.S. Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg settle a labor dispute which threatened a nationwide railroad strike.

One year ago — The United States sent three large military transport planes to give logistic support to the Congo government in putting down a rebellion led by mercenaries.

Plans for 4-H Fair Near Completion

NEW MADRID — Plans are nearing completion for the 19th annual New Madrid county 4-H Fair July 18—19 at the New Madrid high school.

Exhibits on display will be articles made or grown by 4-H members. They will be entered from 9 a.m. until noon July 18. The exhibits will include food preparation, food preservation, clothing, field crops, vegetables, arts and crafts, home furnishing articles, flower arrangement, electricity and woodwork.

The night program, beginning at 8 p.m. with Dale Geske, 4-H Leader, as master of ceremonies, will highlight the day's activities and include the 4-H Style Show, public speaking and share the fun numbers.

The 4-H Style show, under the direction of Mrs. Richard Whiffen, Mrs. Markus Koch, and Mrs. Carl Romines, will be held on the stage July 18 at 8 p.m.

One girl 14 years of age or older and one girl under 14 years will be chosen to represent New Madrid county in the dress revue at the district 4-H achievement program in Cape Girardeau, Aug. 9.

One boy and one girl will be chosen to represent the county at district achievement day. District winners will be awarded a $25 savings bond and a junior leadership pen.

The night will be concluded with share the fun numbers presented by 4-H youth.

The grooming contest for both boys and girls will be held July 19 at 1:30 p.m. One boy and one girl will be selected to represent the county at the district contest day.

Demonstrations, open to the public, will be held at the same time. Demonstrations will be given from the following projects — child care, bicycle, clothing, foods, electricity, horticulture and rabbits.

Cox Will Talk To Jaycees

Tom Cox, Poplar Bluff, Republican candidate for Representative for the 10th district, will speak to the Jaycees at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Country Club. Served as treasurer of the club before he moved to Poplar Bluff.

Deceased Prisoner's Relatives Sought

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) Missouri Penitentiary Warden Harold R. Swenson is looking for a relative or friend of Joe Morgan, a life term inmate of the prison who died of a heart attack Monday after more than 36 years of servitude.

Morgan, 61, was convicted in McDonald County in 1932 on a charge of first degree murder. He suffered two heart attacks Monday and died following the second in the prison hospital.

Swenson said prison records indicated the long term prisoner apparently had no close relatives. If no one claims the body Morgan will be buried in the prison cemetery.

NEW DELHI (AP) — Deputy Finance Minister Morarji Desai rejected the plea of some children to abolish taxes on chocolates.

He told Parliament he had reasons to believe the children were made to write to him by interested parties. They hail from families which can afford the price of chocolates, the minister added.

R. L. Fenimore Dies Monday

Robert Linus Fenimore, 89, retired farmer, and former resident of Parma, died Monday at 4:30 p.m. in the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

For two years he had been a patient in the Shuffit Nursing Home on route three.

He was born in Jackson, April 10, 1879.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ida C. Fenimore, Sikeston; a daughter, Mrs. Vincent Jones, Sikeston; two sons, Ralph Fenimore, Cape Girardeau, and Mrs. Ira S. "Rip" Fenimore, Benton; one sister, Mrs. Corine Armstrong, Cape Girardeau; five grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

Services will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. in Welsh Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Joseph H. Wagner, First Methodist pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery.

of the city and is helpful in obtaining federal grants and assistance for city projects.

The overall aim of the comprehensive plan is to govern the city's growth, by using as a tool for what may be constructed in certain sections of the city, to establish a more orderly pattern of development of industry, parks, schools and residential areas.

Extensive studies in existing land use, population and business trends, traffic patterns and other factors were considered in preparations of the plan.

In other council action, a five-man board of housing appeals was appointed to handle complaints regarding housing inspections.

The body will serve as a quasi-judicial organization when a property owner disagrees with shortcomings found by a housing inspector. A housing inspector is being sought in the city's efforts to enforce housing codes and to obtain recertification of its workable program.

Appointed to the board of housing appeals were: Kenneth Dement, Sam Gibson, Bill Huff, Don Fulton and Bob Guthrie.

An ordinance authorizing an agreement between the city and the Missouri Pacific Railroad for the installation of water mains along the north side of Malone Avenue from Prairie street to South West Street was passed.

Joseph Stepp Dies In Dupo

BASEMENT EXCAVATION for the new addition to the Ferguson Medical Group building was begun Monday, at 1012 North Main Street. Verlon Sain handles the Caterpillar. St. Paul's Episcopal Church is in the left background.

Excavation Starts for New Medical Building Addition

Excavation began this week for a new $250,000 addition to the Ferguson Medical Group building at 1012 North Main St.

The addition will be 62 by 122 feet, and will contain 14,000 square feet, 7,000 square feet on ground and basement levels. It will be built on the east side of the building.

The contractor is Professional Builders of Madison, Wis. A.C. James, route two is in charge of excavation.

On the ground floor there will be 15 examining rooms, two minor surgery rooms, laboratory room, X-ray rooms, a large waiting room, and the A.G. Tenkhoff pharmacy enlarged to more than double its present size.

When the new addition is completed it will house the offices of an expanded staff of nine doctors.

A total of 5,000 square feet of space will be left for future development.

The old portion of the building will be remodeled. The waiting room will be made into business rooms. The pharmacy quarters will be converted into an office for the clinic manager, Claude Benney. Other rooms will be remodeled for examination rooms.

Completion date is set for May 1.

Plans to Meet Van Thieu Hint Johnson May Take More Trips

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - The announcement President Johnson has agreed to meet with South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu this month has increased speculation Johnson plans a busy season of globetrotting.

The President had returned from Central America-jetting to all five republics there in serven hours Monday-only hours before Thieu's office in Saigon announced the meeting planned in Honolulu about July 20.

There already had been strong speculation that Johnson, who made a 4½-day around-the-world tour last December, might range all over the map during the coming weeks.

There was talk of possible Johnson trips to Africa, Asia, South America and Europe perhaps even to Moscow-before his term ends.

Wherever he goes, Johnson would be hard pressed to top Monday's record of five countries between breakfast and midafternoon. Starting out in El Salvador, he traveled 1,050 miles to Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras and Guatemala.

When he reached Guatemala City, last stop before returning to his Texas ranch for a brief stay, the chief executive was exactly 95 miles away from his starting point, the city of San Salvador.

Johnson was the first U.S. president to visit all five nations of Central America. In effect, he operated a homewardbound ferrying service for the presidents of the other countries who had joined him at the weekend Latin summit in San Salvador.

Each of Monday's stops followed a pattern: Johnson never left the airports, stayed in each country about an hour, exchanged formal speeches with the host presidents and mingled with leading citizens at informal receptions.

Warm greetings everywhere also were part of the pattern. Few sour notes were struck, people cheered lustily and rushed to touch him. Many talked about amity and friendship and waved American flags.

At Guatemala City, however, the greeting was the least spontaneous because those on hand were present only by invitation. The Guatemalan government is beset from left and right.

So, as Johnson roamed through a champagne reception in the striking new airport terminal, combat troops carrying submachine guns mingled with the guests.

The President's purpose in going to Central America was to dramatize progress by the region's seven-year-old common market and point to the unfinished tasks ahead.

Commission, City Adopt Growth Plan

The comprehensive plan for the city of Sikeston prepared by Harland Bartholomew and Associates of St. Louis was approved by the city planning commission and accepted by the city council in a joint meeting Monday night at the city administration building.

Three features recommended by the planners were deleted before the plan was accepted.

A mall for the downtown area had been proposed as an added attraction for shoppers and a contribution to the esthetic appearance of the area. It was opposed by a group of merchants mainly because it would eliminate 77 prime parking spaces on Front street.

Ira Keller, planning commission member, said the "guts had been cut from the plan" by eliminating the mall without offering anything to make the area more attractive.

Planning commission members and councilmen were in general agreement that the downtown area needs a drawing card, but could not get together on specifically what would be best.

The consulting firm's proposed plan before it was altered by the city also called for the eventual vacating of the present airport and the construction of a facility outside the city limits. The safety of school children was the prime reason for the proposal. The flight pattern of landing crafts is directly over the Sikeston Senior High School complex.

The other feature deleted from the proposed plan was the addition of another zoning classification for commercial property.

City Manager W. Raymert Miller noted that the comprehensive plan is only a guide line for growth and can be amended at any time. It is needed to aid the orderly growth

Eagleton Optimistic About Chances

Lt. Gov. Thomas Eagleton was cautiously optimistic about his chances for winning the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator in an informal speech to about 60 guests at a campaign fund raising dinner Monday night at the Sikeston Country Club.

Eagleton said he has been campaigning hard for the past nine or ten months and the only plans for the next four weeks, the remaining period before the Aug. 6 primary, is to continue to work.

"We have covered a lot of ground and while I'm optimistic about our chances, I don't believe I'm a cockeyed optimist," Eagleton said.

The former attorney general said he and his campaign manager Richard Southern, Madison, State senator from the 18th district, have been generally well received around the state, and especially well received in the 10th District and in Sikeston.

He emphasized that he did not mean to appear smugly complacent about the campaign and pledged to work hard in the remaining four weeks.

He urged persons attending to act as messengers for Eagleton and to seek support for him. Incumbent Sen. Edward V. Long and former Ambassador True Davis also are seeking the Democratic nomination in August.

Commenting on the decision of the Missouri Supreme Court to declare the toll road act of 1967 unconstitutional, Eagleton said he thought the state had three alternatives:

One choice is for the state to propose new legislation without requiring the state gasoline tax as security.

This would probably mean bonds to be sold would have too high of an interest rate to sell, he said.

A second alternative would be a constitutional amendment.

The third choice, he said, would be to beseech Congress to start a second phase of the interstate highway system. The present system, not completed yet, was designed in 1948 and is not adequate to serve the needs of 1968 or 1978 he said.

LBJ Decision to Retire Reported Clinched By Lynda's Fears for Husband in Vietnam

NEW YORK (AP) — Columnist Drew Pearson says in a magazine article that questions by Lynda Bird about why her husband had to go to Vietnam provided "the final clincher" for President Johnson's decision to retire.

Pearson writes in the current issue of Look magazine that Johnson and his wife asked Secret Service men to awaken them before Lynda Bird arrived at the White House at 6:30 a.m. after a flight to the West Coast to see her husband, Marine Corps Capt. Charles Robb, off to war.

Pearson says the President confided to a friend:

"We didn't want her coming into the White House all alone. So we left word with the Secret Service to notify us 30 minutes in advance.

"We were awake and lying in bed before the Secret Service called, I pulled a pair of britches over my pajamas and we went out to the South Gate to meet her.

"She was pale as a ghost. She talked to me about what a fine boy Chuck was, in the past tense, as if he was never coming back.

And Lynda Bird said: "Daddy, I want to ask you a question. Why do we have to fight over there when so many people were opposed to the war? Why do we have to send 200 boys over there in Chuck's company when there's so much opposition here at home to the war?"

That night, Johnson announced his decision to withdraw from the presidential picture.

That morning, Pearson says, Johnson called on Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and showed him two alternative endings for his speech that night— one just a "peroration for peace" and the other announcing his withdrawal.

Pearson says Humphrey tried to persuade Johnson not to withdraw, but the President was adamant.

Pearson quotes Johnson as having said:

"The time is getting short. We've got to get peace in Vietnam. And I think that with me bowing out the other side is more likely to negotiate.

"There's another thing. I'm tired. I'm getting old. All the men in my family have a record of not living much over the age of 60. I'll be 60 this summer. I've had a heart attack. My health is pretty good. I think my chart is as good as yours. But I'm not sure I could live out another term. And that's not the way I want to end my life."

Aides of Humphrey in Washington said he would have no comment on the magazine article.

Pearson wrote that Johnson told Humphrey he had intended announcing his withdrawal in his Jan. 17 State of the Union address, but mislaid the text. Johnson said he first accused his wife, Lady Bird, of taking the text with her to a beauty parlor, but later discovered the slip of paper near the phone in his White House bedroom, Pearson relates.

Pearson writes that Johnson first wrote out a statement of withdrawal last November and showed it to a few close friends.

Six men had scaled the iron paling fence around the White House last year intent on killing Johnson, Pearson says, and 12,000 letters threatening his life had been written.

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, who sponsored the law, said Monday he was very disappointed at a Missouri Supreme Court decision holding a 1967 toll turnpike law invalid.

The text of the governor's statement:

"I am very disappointed about this ruling and the effects it may have, because I sincerely believe that turnpikes would be of great benefit to Missouri.

The ruling by the Supreme Court represents the opinion of one of the three branches of government, and I disagree with the reasoning of the court on this decision. The court's ruling will have serious economic effects in all parts of Missouri.

"There are two alternatives which we now face— to forget about having toll roads in Missouri, or to adopt a constitutional amendment which would enable the state to proceed with its original plan.

Legislature Formally Closes

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Missouri's second special legislative session died Monday with few mourners at the bedside.

By resolution, the session ended at 5 p.m. without having accomplished any improvement in the financial situation of the big cities. No one was present when time ran out.

The session did enact a $40 million capital improvements bill and approve articles of impeachment against St. Louis County Circuit Judge John D. Hasler for his personal involvement with a woman defendant in a divorce ase.

Hasler now is being tried in St. Louis County Circuit Court on a charge of oppression in office, also for his involvement with Mrs. Jean Shelby of Poplar Bluff who was being sued for divorce by her husband, Delmar Shelby of St. Ann, Mo.

The impeachment trial will be conducted before the State Supreme Court, with the first round of legal proceedings scheduled for July 24.

The capital improvements bill failed in the first special session last March because some senators were afraid not enough revenue would be available. Since then state tax collections improved to the point the Senate was willing to accept the bill.

Clark Elected Chairman of DAEOC Board

PORTAGEVILLE--Elbert Clark of Sikeston was elected chairman of the Delta Area Economic Opportunity Corporation board of directors Monday night.

Neeley Mitchell of Hayti was elected vice chairman.

The board decided to extend the deadline for taking applications for 24 positions to be opened soon. The deadline was extended to next Tuesday when the board will again meet to review applications.

DAEOC is a war on poverty agency serving Scott, Mississippi, Stoddard, New Madrid, Pemiscot and Dunklin counties.

Bicyclist Hurt When He Runs Into Automobile

Twelve-year old Howard James Bienlein, of route six, Perryville, was believed to have received a serious skull fracture, when he ran into the side of a 1959 Chevrolet, with his bicycle, driven by John H. Vernon, also of route six, Perryville, the state patrol reported.

The accident occurred Monday at 6:05 p.m., on route P, three miles west of Crosstown, in Perry county.

The boy was taken to Perry County Memorial hospital in Perryville.

Clashes Flare in Viet Trouble Spots

SAIGON (AP) — A series of clashes broke out Monday and today around Saigon and in the far northwest, two flash points where big battles are expected soon.

In South Vietnam's northwest corner, U.S. Marines reported killing another 89 North Vietnamese in a two-day running battle near the abandoned Khe Sanh combat base. Thirteen Marines were killed and 68 wounded. Since Friday, when fighting erupted on the eastern edge of the demilitarized zone, Marines have reported killing 290 enemy troops along the northern frontier.

A Marine company fought the North Vietnamese for 3½ hours ending Sunday night. Another Marine company relieved and came under an attack Monday that lasted for five hours.

Two companies of the 101st Airborne Division blocking infiltration routes reported killing 21 enemy soldiers 28 miles northwest of Saigon in a battle that raged into the night. Four Americans were killed and 13 wounded. The companies had artillery and helicopter gunship support.

U.S. 9th Division infantrymen fought for an hour today with an enemy force 19 miles southwest of Saigon and reported killing 13. There were no American casualties.

But enemy gunners shelled three targets within six miles of Saigon in more harassing attacks today.

Lower Traffic Toll Cheers Safety Council

CHICAGO (AP) — The lower-than-expected highway death toll during the Independence Day weekend represents a significant gain in traffic safety, the National Safety Council says.

The council had estimated in advance that between 700 and 800 Americans might die on streets and highways over the four-day weekend. The final toll from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Sunday was 620. This compared with 553 deaths in a nonholiday weekend of equal length.

"The deaths that took place make up a tragic version of the traditional Independence Day parade," Howard Pyle, council president, said Monday. "But the fact there weren't more is an encouraging sign that good sense may yet triumph."

The national record for an Independence Day weekend is 732, set during last year's four-day holiday period.

The council also said Monday that motor vehicle fatalities during the first five months of this year averaged 134 a day. During the Fourth of July weekend they averaged 144.

Armed Groom Yields to Viet War Promise

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Gunman Wally Mellish, who held his shotgun bride and their baby hostage for seven days while police kept a cordon around him, surrendered today after he was promised a chance to fight in Vietnam.

Mellish, a 22-year-old former mental patient and convicted car thief, was taken to Ingleburn army camp to see if the army would have him.

Mellish's 19-year-old bride and childhood sweetheart, Beryl Muddle, was taken with her 11-week-old son Leslie to her parents. For the time being the police did not enforce a warrant for her arrest for failing to pay a $42 fine for prostitution.

Mellish ended his bizarre holdout after talking for nearly three hours on the telephone with the Rev. Clyde Paton, chaplain at Long Bay Jail. Mellish's chief condition for surrender was that he be given a chance to serve with Australia's forces in Vietnam.

Carrying his baby son, the young man emerged from the house where he had held off police for seven days and six hours with an arsenal of hand grenades, two rifles, and a shotgun and threats to kill his wife and child if the police rushed him.

The young wife followed him from the house.

Mellish started threatening to shoot Miss Muddle and the baby a week ago when police showed up at the house to question him about some stolen car parts. The police put a cordon around the house, but did not try to rush it for fear the young man would carry out his threat.

Police Commissioner Norman T. Allan arranged a wedding for the couple, with the bridegroom holding a shotgun, last Wednesday after Mellish agreed to surrender. Though the commissioner threw in a wedding feast of steak, curried mushrooms and rice pudding plus a $20 wedding ring, Mellish refused to give up.

Allan also turned over to Mellish an armor piercing rifle which Mellish had demanded to "make him equal to the police." The commissioner was censured by the New South Wales Police Association for supplying the weapon, but he maintained the young man wouldn't start shooting as long as he was humored.

"Mr. Allan's patience has been rewarded," New South Wales Premier Robin Askin said after Mellish's surrender. "There will be general relief that the siege resulted in no loss of life. I don't think too many people will now be concerned by some of the more unusual aspects."

Mellish and his wife were taken to a field headquarters set up during the siege. Their baby appeared fit. Officers recovered the weapons from inside the house.

Police said the young woman's role in the holdout was unclear. She passed up several chances to escape and was reported to have shouted insults at police from a veranda.

Celler in Unfamiliar Role as Gun Registration Foe

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading congressional advocate of federal registration and licensing of guns has taken a major step toward killing a bill to achieve that goal.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee told the House Rules Committee Monday he would oppose any effort to pass a registration and licensing bill if it would endanger a proposal to ban the mail-order sales of rifles and shotguns.

The Rules Committee had the mail-order bill before it today.

"While I'm in favor of registration and licensing," Celler said, "I'm anxious to get a rule on this bill," by which he meant he wanted the proposal in mail-order sales sent to the House floor.

He went on: "In order to get a rule, I'm willing to oppose any amendment offered on the floor of the House dealing with registration and licensing. In conference, I will oppose any attempt to add registration as an amendment to this bill."

President Johnson had proposed to Congress that the ban on the mail-order sale of pistols contained in the recently passed omnibus crime bill be extended to rifles and shotguns. He also asked for the registration of all guns and the licensing of their owners.

Celler was joined by Rep. William M. McCullough of Ohio, ranking Republican on the Judiciary Committee in opposing the registration bill.

McCulloch said he would oppose the registration bill "without qualification. I am fearful that registration legislation at this time would endanger this bill."

He also told the committee he would not have made such a statement "had not I felt that the overwhelming majority if not all the minority felt that way," referring to the Republican members of the judiciary committee.

Several members of the rules committee indicated they could vote for a ban on sales but would oppose the registration of firearms.

Celler and McCulloch would be part of the House team to iron out any differences in House-Senate conference in bills passed by the two bodies.

If opposed to any measure, they could prevent any agreement between the House and the Senate.

Chairman William M. Colmer of the House Rules Committee said he expected a bill banning the interstate sales of firearms to pass the House but he believed it would be weakened by amendments from the floor.

He said many such amendments had been suggested during the hearing of his committee which lasted some six hours Monday, even though the meeting was broken up often by roll call votes on the floor.

Several witnesses appearing before Colmer's committee opposed giving the measure a rule which would prevent it from reaching the floor.

In the Senate Monday, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark testified before the juvenile delinquency subcommittee and said "the ghost of abolition" provides no excuse for failing to pass firearms registration and licensing legislation.

Clark said he knows of no responsible group advocating complete abolition of private ownership of firearms.

The parent Senate Judiciary Committee is to take up the gun control question Wednesday. The committee scheduled the meeting two weeks ago after it bogged down in debate over whether to tack registration and licensing to a mail order ban on long guns and ammunition—a dilemma similar to that confronting the House Rules Committee.

Rotarians Told To Enlarge Community Service

"The field is wide open for community service," Lennie Whitworth told the Rotary club last night in a speech urging members to enlarge its activities and to add new members.

"Think about where we are going and what we can do," he counseled. "Generate a new project."

Two visiting Rotarians, the Rev. Wendell Ensor, pastor of the First United Methodist church in Pacific Grove, Calif., and Cecil Unger of Jackson, told about beautification projects of their clubs.

Emily Bruce entertained at the piano and President Melvin McMackins presided at the meeting at the Rustic Rock Inn.

Bicyclist Hurt When He Runs Into Automobile

Twelve-year old Howard James Bienlein, of route six, Perryville, was believed to have received a serious skull fracture, when he ran into the side of a 1959 Chevrolet, with his bicycle, driven by John H. Vernon, also of route six, Perryville, the state patrol reported.

The accident occurred Monday at 6:05 p.m., on route P, three miles west of Crosstown, in Perry county.

The boy was taken to Perry County Memorial hospital in Perryville.

Plans to Meet Van Thieu Hint Johnson May Take More Trips

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) - The announcement President Johnson has agreed to meet with South Vietnam President Nguyen Van Thieu this month has increased speculation Johnson plans a busy season of globetrotting.

The President had returned from Central America-jetting to all five republics there in serven hours Monday-only hours before Thieu's office in Saigon announced the meeting planned in Honolulu about July 20.

There already had been strong speculation that Johnson, who made a 4½-day around-the-world tour last December, might range all over the map during the coming weeks.

There was talk of possible Johnson trips to Africa, Asia, South America and Europe perhaps even to Moscow-before his term ends.

Wherever he goes, Johnson would be hard pressed to top Monday's record of five countries between breakfast and midafternoon. Starting out in El Salvador, he traveled 1,050 miles to Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras and Guatemala.

When he reached Guatemala City, last stop before returning to his Texas ranch for a brief stay, the chief executive was exactly 95 miles away from his starting point, the city of San Salvador.

Johnson was the first U.S. president to visit all five nations of Central America. In effect, he operated a homewardbound ferrying service for the presidents of the other countries who had joined him at the weekend Latin summit in San Salvador.

Each of Monday's stops followed a pattern: Johnson never left the airports, stayed in each country about an hour, exchanged formal speeches with the host presidents and mingled with leading citizens at informal receptions.

Warm greetings everywhere also were part of the pattern. Few sour notes were struck, people cheered lustily and rushed to touch him. Many talked about amity and friendship and waved American flags.

At Guatemala City, however, the greeting was the least spontaneous because those on hand were present only by invitation. The Guatemalan government is beset from left and right.

So, as Johnson roamed through a champagne reception in the striking new airport terminal, combat troops carrying submachine guns mingled with the guests.

The President's purpose in going to Central America was to dramatize progress by the region's seven-year-old common market and point to the unfinished tasks ahead.

Commission, City Adopt Growth Plan

The comprehensive plan for the city of Sikeston prepared by Harland Bartholomew and Associates of St. Louis was approved by the city planning commission and accepted by the city council in a joint meeting Monday night at the city administration building.

Three features recommended by the planners were deleted before the plan was accepted.

A mall for the downtown area had been proposed as an added attraction for shoppers and a contribution to the esthetic appearance of the area. It was opposed by a group of merchants mainly because it would eliminate 77 prime parking spaces on Front street.

Ira Keller, planning commission member, said the "guts had been cut from the plan" by eliminating the mall without offering anything to make the area more attractive.

Planning commission members and councilmen were in general agreement that the downtown area needs a drawing card, but could not get together on specifically what would be best.

The consulting firm's proposed plan before it was altered by the city also called for the eventual vacating of the present airport and the construction of a facility outside the city limits. The safety of school children was the prime reason for the proposal. The flight pattern of landing crafts is directly over the Sikeston Senior High School complex.

The other feature deleted from the proposed plan was the addition of another zoning classification for commercial property.

City Manager W. Raymert Miller noted that the comprehensive plan is only a guide line for growth and can be amended at any time. It is needed to aid the orderly growth

Eagleton Optimistic About Chances

Lt. Gov. Thomas Eagleton was cautiously optimistic about his chances for winning the Democratic nomination for U.S. Senator in an informal speech to about 60 guests at a campaign fund raising dinner Monday night at the Sikeston Country Club.

Eagleton said he has been campaigning hard for the past nine or ten months and the only plans for the next four weeks, the remaining period before the Aug. 6 primary, is to continue to work.

"We have covered a lot of ground and while I'm optimistic about our chances, I don't believe I'm a cockeyed optimist," Eagleton said.

The former attorney general said he and his campaign manager Richard Southern, Madison, State senator from the 18th district, have been generally well received around the state, and especially well received in the 10th District and in Sikeston.

He emphasized that he did not mean to appear smugly complacent about the campaign propose new legislation without requiring the state gasoline tax as security.

This would probably mean bonds to be sold would have too high of an interest rate to sell, he said.

A second alternative would be a constitutional amendment.

The third choice, he said, would be to beseech Congress to start a second phase of the interstate highway system. The present system, not completed yet, was designed in 1948 and is not adequate to serve the needs of 1968 or 1978 he said.

and pledged to work hard in the remaining four weeks.

He urged persons attending to act as messengers for Eagleton and to seek support for him. Incumbent Sen. Edward V. Long and former Ambassador True Davis also are seeking the Democratic nomination in August.

Commenting on the decision of the Missouri Supreme Court to declare the toll road act of 1967 unconstitutional, Eagleton said he thought the state had three alternatives:

Clashes Flare in Viet Trouble Spots

SAIGON (AP) — A series of clashes broke out Monday and today around Saigon and in the far northwest, two flash points where big battles are expected soon.

In South Vietnam's northwest corner, U.S. Marines reported killing another 89 North Vietnamese in a two-day running battle near the abandoned Khe Sanh combat base. Thirteen Marines were killed and 68 wounded. Since Friday, when fighting erupted on the eastern edge of the demilitarized zone, Marines have reported killing 290 enemy troops along the northern frontier.

A Marine company fought the North Vietnamese for 3½ hours ending Sunday night. Another Marine company relieved and came under an attack Monday that lasted for five hours.

Two companies of the 101st Airborne Division blocking infiltration routes reported killing 21 enemy soldiers 28 miles northwest of Saigon in a battle that raged into the night. Four Americans were killed and 13 wounded. The companies had artillery and helicopter gunship support.

U.S. 9th Division infantrymen fought for an hour today with an enemy force 19 miles southwest of Saigon and reported killing 13. There were no American casualties.

But enemy gunners shelled three targets within six miles of Saigon in more harassing attacks today.

Armed Groom Yields to Viet War Promise

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Gunman Wally Mellish, who held his shotgun bride and their baby hostage for seven days while police kept a cordon around him, surrendered today after he was promised a chance to fight in Vietnam.

Mellish, a 22-year-old former mental patient and convicted car thief, was taken to Ingleburn army camp to see if the army would have him.

Mellish's 19-year-old bride and childhood sweetheart, Beryl Muddle, was taken with her 11-week-old son Leslie to her parents. For the time being the police did not enforce a warrant for her arrest for failing to pay a $42 fine for prostitution.

Mellish ended his bizarre holdout after talking for nearly three hours on the telephone with the Rev. Clyde Paton, chaplain at Long Bay Jail. Mellish's chief condition for surrender was that he be given a chance to serve with Australia's forces in Vietnam.

Carrying his baby son, the young man emerged from the house where he had held off police for seven days and six hours with an arsenal of hand grenades, two rifles, and a shotgun and threats to kill his wife and child if the police rushed him.

The young wife followed him from the house.

Mellish started threatening to shoot Miss Muddle and the baby a week ago when police showed up at the house to question him about some stolen car parts. The police put a cordon around the house, but did not try to rush it for fear the young man would carry out his threat.

Police Commissioner Norman T. Allan arranged a wedding for the couple, with the bridegroom holding a shotgun, last Wednesday after Mellish agreed to surrender. Though the commissioner threw in a wedding feast of steak, curried mushrooms and rice pudding plus a $20 wedding ring, Mellish refused to give up.

Allan also turned over to Mellish an armor piercing rifle which Mellish had demanded to "make him equal to the police." The commissioner was censured by the New South Wales Police Association for supplying the weapon, but he maintained the young man wouldn't start shooting as long as he was humored.

"Mr. Allan's patience has been rewarded," New South Wales Premier Robin Askin said after Mellish's surrender. "There will be general relief that the siege resulted in no loss of life. I don't think too many people will now be concerned by some of the more unusual aspects."

Mellish and his wife were taken to a field headquarters set up during the siege. Their baby appeared fit. Officers recovered the weapons from inside the house.

Police said the young woman's role in the holdout was unclear. She passed up several chances to escape and was reported to have shouted insults at police from a veranda.

Lower Traffic Toll Cheers Safety Council

CHICAGO (AP) — The lower-than-expected highway death toll during the Independence Day weekend represents a significant gain in traffic safety, the National Safety Council says.

The council had estimated in advance that between 700 and 800 Americans might die on streets and highways over the four-day weekend. The final toll from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Sunday was 620. This compared with 553 deaths in a nonholiday weekend of equal length.

"The deaths that took place make up a tragic version of the traditional Independence Day parade," Howard Pyle, council president, said Monday. "But the fact there weren't more is an encouraging sign that good sense may yet triumph."

The national record for an Independence Day weekend is 732, set during last year's four-day holiday period.

The council also said Monday that motor vehicle fatalities during the first five months of this year averaged 134 a day. During the Fourth of July weekend they averaged 144.

Rotarians Told To Enlarge Community Service

"The field is wide open for community service," Lennie Whitworth told the Rotary club last night in a speech urging members to enlarge its activities and to add new members.

"Think about where we are going and what we can do," he counseled. "Generate a new project."

Two visiting Rotarians, the Rev. Wendell Ensor, pastor of the First United Methodist church in Pacific Grove, Calif., and Cecil Unger of Jackson, told about beautification projects of their clubs.

Celler in Unfamiliar Role as Gun Registration Foe

WASHINGTON (AP) — A leading congressional advocate of federal registration and licensing of guns has taken a major step toward killing a bill to achieve that goal.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee told the House Rules Committee Monday he would oppose any effort to pass a registration and licensing bill if it would endanger a proposal to ban the mail-order sales of rifles and shotguns.

The Rules Committee had the mail-order bill before it today.

"While I'm in favor of registration and licensing," Celler said, "I'm anxious to get a rule on this bill," by which he meant he wanted the proposal in mail-order sales sent to the House floor.

He went on: "In order to get a rule, I'm willing to oppose any amendment offered on the floor of the House dealing with registration and licensing. In conference, I will oppose any attempt to add registration as an amendment to this bill."

President Johnson had proposed to Congress that the ban on the mail-order sale of pistols contained in the recently passed omnibus crime bill be extended to rifles and shotguns. He also asked for the registration of all guns and the licensing of their owners.

Celler was joined by Rep. William M. McCullough of Ohio, ranking Republican on the Judiciary Committee in opposing the registration bill.

McCulloch said he would oppose the registration bill "without qualification. I am fearful that registration legislation at this time would endanger this bill."

He also told the committee he would not have made such a statement "had not I felt that the overwhelming majority if not all the minority felt that way," referring to the Republican members of the judiciary committee.

Several members of the rules committee indicated they could vote for a ban on sales but would oppose the registration of firearms.

Celler and McCulloch would be part of the House team to iron out any differences in House-Senate conference in bills passed by the two bodies.

If opposed to any measure, they could prevent any agreement between the House and the Senate.

Chairman William M. Colmer of the House Rules Committee said he expected a bill banning the interstate sales of firearms to pass the House but he believed it would be weakened by amendments from the floor.

He said many such amendments had been suggested during the hearing of his committee which lasted some six hours Monday, even though the meeting was broken up often by roll call votes on the floor.

Several witnesses appearing before Colmer's committee opposed giving the measure a rule which would prevent it from reaching the floor.

In the Senate Monday, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark testified before the juvenile delinquency subcommittee and said "the ghost of abolition" provides no excuse for failing to pass firearms registration and licensing legislation.

Clark said he knows of no responsible group advocating complete abolition of private ownership of firearms.

The parent Senate Judiciary Committee is to take up the gun control question Wednesday. The committee scheduled the meeting two weeks ago after it bogged down in debate over whether to tack registration and licensing to a mail order ban on long guns and ammunition—a dilemma similar to that confronting the House Rules Committee.

Americans are supposed to believe in the unimpeded flow of news.

Sometimes we wonder if they really do.

So many people are unable to identify self interest with freedom of information.

So few recognize that when freedom is denied one person it injuries everyone's freedom.

Freedom for too many Americans is something of a theory. It seems to be remote to their lives. The opposite is true of those who live in countries, which have lost their freedom. They yearn for it. They try to escape from oppression. Once denied freedom is cherished. It is the one thing that many people want most.

It is disconcerting to note that freedom of information is not growing as civilization advances.

The Freedom of Information Center at the University of Missouri found in a 1966 survey that 55 countries had a free press. In 1967 the number had dropped to 47.

Statistics don't tell the whole story. There are many different shades of freedom. It is difficult to apply an accurage yardstick.

Without question the United States is one of the leaders in freedom of information but it is threatened constantly.

The threats are seldom of the block buster type.

Sometimes they suit the convenience of the news source but not the news media. Sometimes they are designed to give the news sources the best possible image. Sometimes they are designed to cover up developments considered by the news source to be unfavorable to him.

Contrasted with these efforts, of course, are those who seek more publicity than events warrant.

Those who carry the news to the people must try to strike a balance, which will interest the greatest number of people, not any individual or group.

It is a demanding responsibility even in a country, where information is repurted to flow freely.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE . . .

According to a report from Washington, most of us have this misconception: The federal government will soon go on a drastic economy binge as a result of the 6-billion spending cut that Congress has ordered in passing the new 10 per cent surtax.

The fact is that spending will stay around 186 billions in the next fiscal year, starting July 1. We are told that this is what the government planned to spend according to President Johnson's earlier estimates but then in recent months was headed higher . .,. until Congress insisted on these cuts as part of its deal to pass the increased tax bill.

Actually, Congress is merely holding President Johnson down to near his original spending estimate and trying to keep the budget deficit at about 8 billions.

So taxpayers should withhold their applause and keep ever-after their congressmen to whack government spending further.

The Flag could be displayed more often.

It is a beautiful banner. It displays red, white and blue to best advantage. It is nicely balanced and poised.

The design for the Flag was not hastily conceived.

When it ripples in the breeze it stirs the heart.

Earlier flags reflected the troubled times in which they were designed. They lacked the beauty and grace of Old Glory.

While the Flag should be displayed more often than it is, it is more important that it became a permanent fixture of the heart.

The late Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, expressed the need for this eloquently in writing about "The Meaning of the Flag."

"I am sorry that you do not wear a little flag of the Union every day instead of some days. I can only ask you, if you lose the physical emblem, to be sure that you wear it in your heart, and the heart of America shall interpret the heart of the world."

Let's keep the faith.

THE COURT AND THE SENATE

The Senate Judiciary Committee will consider on Thursday, July 11, President Johnson's nominations of Homer Thornberry as a Supreme Court Justice and Abe Fortas as Chief Justice.

The argument against President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations is political rather than philosophical. Pushing the fight is Sen. Robert P. Griffin (R—Mich.), who calls the nominations acts of "cronyism" by a "lame duck" President.

Griffin leads a group of 18 other Republican Senators who signed a round-robin letter opposing the nominations. But, and most significantly, Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen (R—Ill.), on July 2, said that a majority of Senate Republicans now favor the confirmation of Abe Fortas as Chief Justice and W. Homer Thornberry as an associate Justice. Dirksen said at least two of the 19 round-robin signers were prepared to vote to confirm.

Dirksen said full confirmation could follow within two days or a week after the Senate Judiciary Committee completes hearings scheduled to open July 11. But the timing is chancy. Hearings could take up a full week and discussions another. Only a small group would be needed to mount a filibuster. Dirksen is confident, he says, that he can muster the votes for cloture. But August 2 is the target date for adjournment of the present session of Congress.

"Since 1900," writes Joseph P. Harris, "only five nominations to the Supreme Court have faced serious opposition in the Senate: those of Brandeis (1916), Stone (1925), Hughes and Parker (1920), and Black (1937). In every case the opposition was due to the philosophy and supposed stand of the nominee on social and economic issues rather than to partisan considerations."

Dirksen calls Justice Fortas "a very able lawyer" and Judge Thornberry "a very solid citizen." Justice Fortas had ruled in general with the "activist" wing of the court. Thornberry's early record in Congress was mixed, but in later years it showed a steady trend toward a liberal position.

In any event, it always is a mistake to think you can predict how a judge will rule. Felix Frankfurter was perhaps the classic example of this principle. A strong influence in the New Deal prior to appointment, he was supposed to walk on the left side of the road. As it turned out, he became the leader of the so-called conservative wing of the Warren Court.

Justice Black, on the other hand, has been quite unpredictable. A paradoxical adage has it that a political liberal, when elevated to the Bench, tends to rule more nearly by the doctrine of STARE DECISIS (to let prior decisions control) than does a conservative.

Should the Senate refuse to confirm the Fortas and Thornberry nominations, President Johnson could always appoint them directly after the Chamber recesses. Retiring Chief Justice Warren was himself a recess appointee, as were Justices Potter Stewart and William J. Brennan, Jr. Sen. William Langer (R—N.D.), charged that Warren as governor of California was dominated by a "liquor lobbyist," abetted corruption, and followed "the Marxist line." Brennan was accused by the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, (R—Wis.), of using his New Jersey judgeship to smear "anyone who opposed Communists in the government."

It would be especially unfortunate if a recess appointee were rejected after helping to decide cases. That happened back in 1795, and with a Chief Justice. John Rutledge, C. J., was ultimately rejected by the Senate because he denounced the Jay Treaty while on the Bench.

'Isn't It a Wonderful Feeling?'

The motor vehicle can be as much a lethal weapon as a firearm, it was noted by Colonel E.I. (Mike) Hockaday, the Superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

"A motor vehicle is a lethal weapon everytime it is not driven safely," Hockaday noted. "It was not designed to cause injury and death. Yet, when used incorrectly a motor vehicle is a deadly mass of steel. A firearm, on the other hand, is by its nature a lethal weapon."

The Patrol Superintendent observed that there has been much discussion recently on new gun control laws. He noted that thousands of people have written their congressmen and newspapers urging either the passage or rejection of a new firearm law. A nation-wide one-week survey taken a few weeks ago on the number of persons killed by gunshots showed that nearly two hundred persons died from bullet wounds during the studied period.

"While the concern for firearm legislation is well taken and the gunshot fatality toll study alarming, this problem is not as acute as our traffic fatality situation," Hockaday stated. "Last year, for example, 53,100 people were killed by motor vehicles in the country. This was an average of over one thousand traffic deaths each week of the year. The traffic toll so far this year is on the increase from that of last year.

"The public would do well to review their attitude on traffic safety," the Colonel concluded. "If people would show as much concern over the traffic carnage currently being experienced on our streets and highways, as they have shown over firearm legislation, much could be done to reduce the rising traffic toll."

The increased use of home hydronic (hot water) heating systems in recent years is attributed to new developments and product improvements. One of the significant new advancements is the use of smaller pipe sizes, which has reduced installation costs substantially. Also, new designs in hydronic baseboards have enabled contractors to greatly speed up installation time. Package boilers, zoning and highly sensitive controls are other new trends contributing to the "hydronic popularity boom" among homeowners.

H.L. Hunt Says

TREATMENT OF STUDENT REVOLUTIONARIES

During student uprisings on campuses throughout the country, leaders of the rioters have usually demanded complete amnesty for all those who participated. Sadly, many college and university administrators surrendered to this demand.

But others realized that allowing guilty students to go unpunished increases the likelihood of even worse riots in the future. These administrators took firm action so that those responsible had to face the consequences of their unlawful behavior.

At the University of Virginia students were warned they would be immediately suspended if they seized university property or engaged in otner unlawful acts. The Chancellor of the University of Denver expelled students who attempted to gain approval of their demands by the use of force and violence.

The House of Representatives has also taken action against revolutionary students. Shortly after the worst of the student riots, the House voted 306-54 to cancel federal scholarships and grants to students participating in campus uprisings. This is a logical action because students who have shown themselves incapable of acting responsibly do not deserve to have their education subsidized by the taxpayer.

Since persuasive evidence shows many of the demonstrations are led and supported by groups sympathetic to communism, decisive action must be taken to see that members of those groups are not allowed to dominate campus affairs.

For the sake of the many decent students who are trying to obtain an education, revolutionary students must be swiftly and appropriately punished. Those who have refused to allow students to escape responsibility for their actions deserve our congratulations. HLH.

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Gun Bill backers muff chance to win controls battle; Smathers, Scott and Kennedy failed to appear for vote; Vitriol barrage against Fortas reminiscent of past Nixon technique

WASHINGTON — Passage of laws for the American people sometimes turns on very little things. The other day the passage of a gun control bill turned on the fact that three senators were not willing to spend a few extra minutes in the Senate Judiciary Committee. The gun control bill lost.

The Judiciary Committee was considering the Tydings Gun Control Bill, which has the backing of men such as Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana but the bitter opposition of the National Rifle Association. It provides that each state shall be given time to work out its own gun registration system before the Federal Government steps in. President Johnson favors a stronger bill requiring Federal registration from the start.

Sponsoring the former bill along with Tydings were Sens. George Smathers, D—Fla., and Hugh Scott, R—Pa. Also strongly backing the bill was Sen. Teddy Kennedy, D—Mass., brother of the two men who were victims of the assassin's bullet.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is strongly stacked with southern fundamentalists and Republican vocalists for the gun lobby. They range from big Jim Eastland of Mississippi to John McClellan of Arkansas and Sam Ervin of North Carolina, among the southern fundamentalists, to Roman Hruska of Nebraska, the rootin', tootin' spokesman for the National Rifle Association who has been doing his best to delay any legislation. He figures that the longer the delay, the more the assassination of Bobby Kennedy in Los Angeles will be forgotten.

In between there are Quentin Burdick of North Dakota, the quiet spokesman for Prairie pheasant game hunters, and Ed Long of Missouri, who has a hard time making up his mind on gun control.

When gun control was debated in the Judiciary Committee the other day, all these anti-control men were present. But three backers of the bill were not.

Sen. Tydings argued eloquently. He also used the telephone. Frantically he called two cosponsors of the bill, Smathers of Florida and Scott of Pennsylvania. They said they would come for the vote. But somehow or other they never arrived.

Tydings also called Ted Kennedy, a member of the committee, who was passionately, tragically interested in gun control. Teddy wanted to be told a few minutes before the Judiciary Committee vote so he could get there at the last minute. But he never arrived.

The Gun Control bill, which it was hoped would discourage more assassinations such as those of President Kennedy, Sen. Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King, was stymied in committee by a 7 to 5 vote. If the three senators who favored the legislation had taken the trouble to be present, the vote would have been the other way around.

Another vote is due in the Judiciary Committee this week. It will be interesting to see whether the three Senators this time are present.

—TELEPHONE HATE TACTICS

This column may have been too optimistic when we reported on July 4 that the old era of Joe McCarthyism was no more.

Almost before that column was published, a telephone barrage, similar to that operated by Richard Nixon's campaign managers when he first defeated Rep. Jerry Voorhees for Congress, was buzzing over the telephone lines in Washington. The Nixon technique, used both against Voorhees and later Helen Gahagan Douglas, was to charge them with being pro-Communist.

The same technique, coupled with anti-semitism, was used this time against Abe Fortas, to block his confirmation to the Supreme Court. Those who dialed 528-4357 listened to a message from the National Socialist White People's party pouring out a stream of anti-semitic hate against Fortas.

"In this nation of 150 million white Aryans," said the telephone message, "it seems that Mr. Johnson couldn't find a single qualified person to fill that important post. Instead he dug up this despicable Jew with a red record that smells to high heaven, and what a record it is. Here are some of the highlights:

"Fortas was for a period associated with the National Lawyers Guid, a notorious Communist front cited by the Attorney General of the United States. He was publicly associated with the known Soviet agents Alger Hiss and Harry Dexter White.

"Fortas was instrumental in bringing about the Supreme Court School Busing decision whereby millions of white children are delivered each school day into the hands of young Negro hoodlums and rapists in thousands of blackboard jungles across the nation. It was Abe Fortas who cast the decisive fifth vote in the infamous Miranda vs Arizona decision.

"There is too much in the Fortas record to list here. If you are a white American concerned about the growing anti-white trend in this country, contact the National Socialist White People's Party.

"We need your support. This has been another in a continuing series of white power messages."

Nineteen Republican senators, led by Robert Griffin of Michigan, are furthering this anti-semitic campaign by organizing a filibuster to block Fortas' confirmation.

Note—The 18 GOP senators in addition to Griffin are: Allott, Colo., Baker, Tenn., Bennett, Utah, Carlson, Kans., Cotton, N.H., Curtis, Neb., Fannin, Ariz., Fong, Hawaii, Hansen, Wyo., Jordan, Idaho, Miller, Iowa, Morton, Ky., Mundt, S.D., Murphy, Calif., Thurmond, S.C., Tower, Tex., Williams, Del., and Young, N.D.

Personal Report From Ramsey Clark; U.S. Now Cracking the Cosa Nostra

Some years ago, the late Bob Kennedy produced a small, slight, gravel-voiced hoodlum, put him on the witness stand and let him "sing." And sing, indeed, did Joe Valachi, For the first time, even the experts learned how little they had known of the underworld.

Joe Valachi threw a new phrase into the American criminal jargon -- La Cosa Nostra. For the first time we learned of its fiery and primordial rites and channels of command.

But what has been done to fight the complex of mobs which has been called the second government..? Can such a muscled, heavily armed empire reportedly worth $150 billion -- repeat $150 billion—really be fought?

It is being fought? How can it survive despite the assault by what should be the most powerful law enforcement agency in the free world?

The other day I put these same queries to U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark. Here is his reply, written exclusively for this column:

By Ramsey Clark
Attorney General of the United States

Washington -- Federally corrdinated law enforcement is engaged in the most intensive and successful attack on organized crime ever undertaken on a multicity basis. New manpower, resources and techniques will further strengthen the attack in coming months.

The federal response to organized crime, sporadic at best until the 1960s, today is comprehensive and effective. Its top priority in the Department of Justice is reflected by assignment of more attorneys than ever before to the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section, headed by veteran crime-fighter Henry Petersen.

Indictments in cases handled by the section have increased steadily -- from 17 in 1960, to 262 in 1963, to a record 668 last year.

Of 183 known members of La Cosa Nostra indicted or convicted during the past dozen years, 55 were indicted or convicted last year. Included were some of the highest ranking members of this major crime syndicate ever brought to justice.

J. Edgar Hoover has said that 1967 "marked one of the most effective all-out drives against organized crime in the history of law enforcement."

The drive includes a new and effective technique, the Strike Force concept. Strike Forces, teams of attorneys and investigators from key federal agencies, have been dispatched to three centers of organized crime. Additional Strike Forces are being formed.

The Department of Justice is conducting meetings in major cities across the country to improve coordination among not only federal but also state and local agencies.

A constant flow of criminal intelligence is supplied to local law enforcement by federal agencies. In 1967, more than 750 raids were conducted and 3,700 arrests made as a result of intelligence disseminated by the FBI.

To further intensify the federal drive, the Department of Justice is seeking Congressional authority to enlarge the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section staff from about 100 to more than 160. The proposed increase would include 20 attorneys for Strike Force duty.

Although law enforcement is primarily a local responsibility, a federal respone to organized crime is clearly needed because of its interstate aspects and its proven ability to neutralize local law enforcement.

Many find it difficult to believe there is organized crime, but its existence is confirmed by history, experience and reason. It surfaced in the United States in the last decades of the 19th century and matured during the prohibition era.

In a society where nearly every form of human activity is organized, would it be realistic to believe criminal activity would not be? Crime has proven far too profitable in our society to expect an absence of organization in its execution.

The activities of organized crime are wide ranging. Gambling is its greatest source of income and loan sharking ranks second. Extortion, blackmail and shakedowns are frequent practices. Importation and wholesaling of narcotics engage many groups.

Increased sophistication and affluence have led organized crime into many legitimate businesses, labor activites and government services and contracts, licensing and zoning.

Generally, organized crime supplies goods or services wanted by a large number of people. It cannot operate extensively without protection. Significant gambling, shylocking, narcotics traffic and other continuing criminal acts cannto long escape the notice of law enforcement.

Perhaps the greatest harm to come from organized crime is corruption of officials. This affects a community in many ways. Where some police are corrupt, bribed, the moral climate of the whole community is likely to be affected.

Despite the federal successes of today and tomorrow, Americans should not look to Washington for an ultimate solution to he problem of roganized crime.

Local police outnumber federal police nearly 18 to 1. They patrol the streets and public area, and see and know the activities of the people.

It is state and local laws that are usually violated by racketeering activities and their enforcement is the duty of local police.

Although the size and scope of organized crime is difficult to measure, there are indications that hard-hitting law enforcement efforts of recent years have at least contained if not reduced its power.

While most types of crime can only be controlled and reduced, organized crime can be virtually eliminated. There are whole nations and societies relatively free of its scourge.

The key step must be professionalization of local law enforcement: paying salaries that will attract the best among us, raising standards, training officers to meet the varieties of criminal standards, training officers to meet the varieties of criminal conduct, providing research and development, developing organization and leadership to bring excellence to local law enforcement throughout the nation.

Organized crime cannot flourish in any community willing to pay for and support effective law enforcement. A community's success or failure in controlling crime, organized or otherwise, will in the final analysis be determined by its people.

Americans are supposed to believe in the unimpeded flow of news.

Sometimes we wonder if they really do.

So many people are unable to identify self interest with freedom of information.

So few recognize that when freedom is denied one person it injuries everyone's freedom.

Freedom for too many Americans is something of a theory. It seems to be remote to their lives. The opposite is true of those who live in countries, which have lost their freedom. They yearn for it. They try to escape from oppression. Once denied freedom is cherished. It is the one thing that many people want most.

It is disconcerting to note that freedom of information is not growing as civilization advances.

The Freedom of Information Center at the University of Missouri found in a 1966 survey that 55 countries had a free press. In 1967 the number had dropped to 47.

Statistics don't tell the whole story. There are many different shades of freedom. It is difficult to apply an accurage yardstick.

Without question the United States is one of the leaders in freedom of information but it is threatened constantly.

The threats are seldom of the block buster type.

Sometimes they suit the convenience of the news source but not the news media. Sometimes they are designed to give the news sources the best possible image. Sometimes they are designed to cover up developments considered by the news source to be unfavorable to him.

Contrasted with these efforts, of course, are those who seek more publicity than events warrant.

Those who carry the news to the people must try to strike a balance, which will interest the greatest number of people, not any individual or group.

It is a demanding responsibility even in a country, where information is repurted to flow freely.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE . . .

According to a report from Washington, most of us have this misconception: The federal government will soon go on a drastic economy binge as a result of the 6-billion spending cut that Congress has ordered in passing the new 10 per cent surtax.

The fact is that spending will stay around 186 billions in the next fiscal year, starting July 1. We are told that this is what the government planned to spend according to President Johnson's earlier estimates but then in recent months was headed higher . .,. until Congress insisted on these cuts as part of its deal to pass the increased tax bill.

Actually, Congress is merely holding President Johnson down to near his original spending estimate and trying to keep the budget deficit at about 8 billions.

So taxpayers should withhold their applause and keep ever-after their congressmen to whack government spending further.

The Flag could be displayed more often.

It is a beautiful banner. It displays red, white and blue to best advantage. It is nicely balanced and poised.

The design for the Flag was not hastily conceived.

When it ripples in the breeze it stirs the heart.

Earlier flags reflected the troubled times in which they were designed. They lacked the beauty and grace of Old Glory.

While the Flag should be displayed more often than it is, it is more important that it became a permanent fixture of the heart.

The late Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, expressed the need for this eloquently in writing about "The Meaning of the Flag."

"I am sorry that you do not wear a little flag of the Union every day instead of some days. I can only ask you, if you lose the physical emblem, to be sure that you wear it in your heart, and the heart of America shall interpret the heart of the world."

Let's keep the faith.

THE COURT AND THE SENATE

The Senate Judiciary Committee will consider on Thursday, July 11, President Johnson's nominations of Homer Thornberry as a Supreme Court Justice and Abe Fortas as Chief Justice.

The argument against President Johnson's Supreme Court nominations is political rather than philosophical. Pushing the fight is Sen. Robert P. Griffin (R—Mich.), who calls the nominations acts of "cronyism" by a "lame duck" President.

Griffin leads a group of 18 other Republican Senators who signed a round-robin letter opposing the nominations. But, and most significantly, Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen (R—Ill.), on July 2, said that a majority of Senate Republicans now favor the confirmation of Abe Fortas as Chief Justice and W. Homer Thornberry as an associate Justice. Dirksen said at least two of the 19 round-robin signers were prepared to vote to confirm.

Dirksen said full confirmation could follow within two days or a week after the Senate Judiciary Committee completes hearings scheduled to open July 11. But the timing is chancy. Hearings could take up a full week and discussions another. Only a small group would be needed to mount a filibuster. Dirksen is confident, he says, that he can muster the votes for cloture. But August 2 is the target date for adjournment of the present session of Congress.

"Since 1900," writes Joseph P. Harris, "only five nominations to the Supreme Court have faced serious opposition in the Senate: those of Brandeis (1916), Stone (1925), Hughes and Parker (1920), and Black (1937). In every case the opposition was due to the philosophy and supposed stand of the nominee on social and economic issues rather than to partisan considerations."

Dirksen calls Justice Fortas "a very able lawyer" and Judge Thornberry "a very solid citizen." Justice Fortas had ruled in general with the "activist" wing of the court. Thornberry's early record in Congress was mixed, but in later years it showed a steady trend toward a liberal position.

In any event, it always is a mistake to think you can predict how a judge will rule. Felix Frankfurter was perhaps the classic example of this principle. A strong influence in the New Deal prior to appointment, he was supposed to walk on the left side of the road. As it turned out, he became the leader of the so-called conservative wing of the Warren Court.

Justice Black, on the other hand, has been quite unpredictable. A paradoxical adage has it that a political liberal, when elevated to the Bench, tends to rule more nearly by the doctrine of STARE DECISIS (to let prior decisions control) than does a conservative.

Should the Senate refuse to confirm the Fortas and Thornberry nominations, President Johnson could always appoint them directly after the Chamber recesses. Retiring Chief Justice Warren was himself a recess appointee, as were Justices Potter Stewart and William J. Brennan, Jr. Sen. William Langer (R—N.D.), charged that Warren as governor of California was dominated by a "liquor lobbyist," abetted corruption, and followed "the Marxist line." Brennan was accused by the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, (R—Wis.), of using his New Jersey judgeship to smear "anyone who opposed Communists in the government."

It would be especially unfortunate if a recess appointee were rejected after helping to decide cases. That happened back in 1795, and with a Chief Justice. John Rutledge, C. J., was ultimately rejected by the Senate because he denounced the Jay Treaty while on the Bench.

'Isn't It a Wonderful Feeling?'

The motor vehicle can be as much a lethal weapon as a firearm, it was noted by Colonel E.I. (Mike) Hockaday, the Superintendent of the Missouri State Highway Patrol.

"A motor vehicle is a lethal weapon everytime it is not driven safely," Hockaday noted. "It was not designed to cause injury and death. Yet, when used incorrectly a motor vehicle is a deadly mass of steel. A firearm, on the other hand, is by its nature a lethal weapon."

The Patrol Superintendent observed that there has been much discussion recently on new gun control laws. He noted that thousands of people have written their congressmen and newspapers urging either the passage or rejection of a new firearm law. A nation-wide one-week survey taken a few weeks ago on the number of persons killed by gunshots showed that nearly two hundred persons died from bullet wounds during the studied period.

"While the concern for firearm legislation is well taken and the gunshot fatality toll study alarming, this problem is not as acute as our traffic fatality situation," Hockaday stated. "Last year, for example, 53,100 people were killed by motor vehicles in the country. This was an average of over one thousand traffic deaths each week of the year. The traffic toll so far this year is on the increase from that of last year.

"The public would do well to review their attitude on traffic safety," the Colonel concluded. "If people would show as much concern over the traffic carnage currently being experienced on our streets and highways, as they have shown over firearm legislation, much could be done to reduce the rising traffic toll."

The increased use of home hydronic (hot water) heating systems in recent years is attributed to new developments and product improvements. H.L. Hunt Says

TREATMENT OF STUDENT REVOLUTIONARIES

During student uprisings on campuses throughout the country, leaders of the rioters have usually demanded complete amnesty for all those who participated. Sadly, many college and university administrators surrendered to this demand.

But others realized that allowing guilty students to go unpunished increases the likelihood of even worse riots in the future. These administrators took firm action so that those responsible had to face the consequences of their unlawful behavior.

At the University of Virginia students were warned they would be immediately suspended if they seized university property or engaged in otner unlawful acts. The Chancellor of the University of Denver expelled students who attempted to gain approval of their demands by the use of force and violence.

The House of Representatives has also taken action against revolutionary students. Shortly after the worst of the student riots, the House voted 306-54 to cancel federal scholarships and grants to students participating in campus uprisings. This is a logical action because students who have shown themselves incapable of acting responsibly do not deserve to have their education subsidized by the taxpayer.

Since persuasive evidence shows many of the demonstrations are led and supported by groups sympathetic to communism, decisive action must be taken to see that members of those groups are not allowed to dominate campus affairs.

For the sake of the many decent students who are trying to obtain an education, revolutionary students must be swiftly and appropriately punished. Those who have refused to allow students to escape responsibility for their actions deserve our congratulations. HLH.

DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON SAY: Gun Bill backers muff chance to win controls battle; Smathers, Scott and Kennedy failed to appear for vote; Vitriol barrage against Fortas reminiscent of past Nixon technique

WASHINGTON — Passage of laws for the American people sometimes turns on very little things. The other day the passage of a gun control bill turned on the fact that three senators were not willing to spend a few extra minutes in the Senate Judiciary Committee. The gun control bill lost.

The Judiciary Committee was considering the Tydings Gun Control Bill, which has the backing of men such as Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana but the bitter opposition of the National Rifle Association. It provides that each state shall be given time to work out its own gun registration system before the Federal Government steps in. President Johnson favors a stronger bill requiring Federal registration from the start.

Sponsoring the former bill along with Tydings were Sens. George Smathers, D—Fla., and Hugh Scott, R—Pa. Also strongly backing the bill was Sen. Teddy Kennedy, D—Mass., brother of the two men who were victims of the assassin's bullet.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is strongly stacked with southern fundamentalists and Republican vocalists for the gun lobby. When gun control was debated in the Judiciary Committee the other day, all these anti-control men were present. But three backers of the bill were not.

Sen. Tydings argued eloquently. He also used the telephone. Frantically he called two cosponsors of the bill, Smathers of Florida and Scott of Pennsylvania. They said they would come for the vote. But somehow or other they never arrived.

Tydings also called Ted Kennedy, a member of the committee, who was passionately, tragically interested in gun control. Teddy wanted to be told a few minutes before the Judiciary Committee vote so he could get there at the last minute. But he never arrived.

The Gun Control bill, which it was hoped would discourage more assassinations such as those of President Kennedy, Sen. Robert Kennedy and Martin Luther King, was stymied in committee by a 7 to 5 vote. If the three senators who favored the legislation had taken the trouble to be present, the vote would have been the other way around.

Another vote is due in the Judiciary Committee this week. It will be interesting to see whether the three Senators this time are present.

Its top priority in the Depeartment of Justice is reflected by assignment of more attorneys than ever before to the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section, headed by veteran crime-fighter Henry Petersen.

Indictments in cases handled by the section have increased steadily -- from 17 in 1960, to 262 in 1963, to a record 668 last year.

Of 183 known members of La Cosa Nostra indicted or convicted during the past dozen years, 55 were indicted or convicted last year. Included were some of the highest ranking members of this major crime syndicate ever brought to justice.

J. Edgar Hoover has said that 1967 "marked one of the most effective all-out drives against organized crime in the history of law enforcement."

The drive includes a new and effective technique, the Strike Force concept. Strike Forces, teams of attorneys and investigators from key federal agencies, have been dispatched to three centers of organized crime. Additional Strike Forces are being formed.

The Department of Justice is conducting meetings in major cities across the country to improve coordination among not only federal but also state and local agencies.

A constant flow of criminal intelligence is supplied to local law enforcement by federal agencies. In 1967, more than 750 raids were conducted and 3,700 arrests made as a result of intelligence disseminated by the FBI.

To further intensify the federal drive, the Department of Justice is seeking Congressional authority to enlarge the Organized Crime and Racketeering Section staff from about 100 to more than 160. The proposed increase would include 20 attorneys for Strike Force duty.

Although law enforcement is primarily a local responsibility, a federal respone to organized crime is clearly needed because of its interstate aspects and its proven ability to neutralize local law enforcement.

Many find it difficult to believe there is organized crime, but its existence is confirmed by history, experience and reason. It surfaced in the United States in the last decades of the 19th century and matured during the prohibition era.

In a society where nearly every form of human activity is organized, would it be realistic to believe criminal activity would not be? Crime has proven far too profitable in our society to expect an absence of organization in its execution.

The activities of organized crime are wide ranging. Gambling is its greatest source of income and loan sharking ranks second. Extortion, blackmail and shakedowns are frequent practices. Importation and wholesaling of narcotics engage many groups.

Increased sophistication and affluence have led organized crime into many legitimate businesses, labor activites and government services and contracts, licensing and zoning.

Generally, organized crime supplies goods or services wanted by a large number of people. It cannot operate extensively without protection. Significant gambling, shylocking, narcotics traffic and other continuing criminal acts cannto long escape the notice of law enforcement.

Perhaps the greatest harm to come from organized crime is corruption of officials. This affects a community in many ways. Where some police are corrupt, bribed, the moral climate of the whole community is likely to be affected.

Despite the federal successes of today and tomorrow, Americans should not look to Washington for an ultimate solution to he problem of roganized crime.

Local police outnumber federal police nearly 18 to 1. They patrol the streets and public area, and see and know the activities of the people.

It is state and local laws that are usually violated by racketeering activities and their enforcement is the duty of local police.

Although the size and scope of organized crime is difficult to measure, there are indications that hard-hitting law enforcement efforts of recent years have at least contained if not reduced its power.

While most types of crime can only be controlled and reduced, organized crime can be virtually eliminated. There are whole nations and societies relatively free of its scourge.

The key step must be professionalization of local law enforcement: paying salaries that will attract the best among us, raising standards, training officers to meet the varieties of criminal standards, training officers to meet the varieties of criminal conduct, providing research and development, developing organization and leadership to bring excellence to local law enforcement throughout the nation.

Organized crime cannot flourish in any community willing to pay for and support effective law enforcement. A community's success or failure in controlling crime, organized or otherwise, will in the final analysis be determined by its people.

Television Welcomes Singer Patti Page

NOTE — A woman performer, particularly a singer, who admits to having passed her 30th birthday, is rarer than a passenger pigeon. Patti Page, one of the well-established musical stars, explains frankly that it's not vanity, but self-preservation.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —I'm grateful for this opportunity to thank those of you who saw me on the Ed Sullivan Show, Music Hall and other television series and wrote how pleased you were that I had come out of retirement.

Appreciative as I am, I must make a confession. I did not retire—unless you call seven months on the road in night clubs and recording two albums and eight singles annually retirement.

It was the other way around. TV retired from me— and from such talented female singers as Rosie Clooney, Kay Starr, Jo Stafford, Polly Bergen and, to a lesser extent, Dinah Shore and Peggy Lee. These singers not only dominated the record industry's "charts" in the 1950's but television as well. Most of us had our own TV series. In fact, Dinah and I had our own shows for several seasons.

Then something awful happened. We became 'older girls'.

In an industry where everyone was suddenly competing to appeal to the "youth market," we were guilty of the most serious sin of all—having past our 30th birthdays. It seemed as though the only way to be seen on television, until last year, was to be a long-haired, shortskirted teeniebopper who either gurued with a guru or went "up, up and away" with the Rolling Stones.

The result, unfortunately, was that a lot of girls in micromini skirts were revealed to have micromini talents as well. Spirited away from the electronic sanctuary of a modern recording studio, and thrust before the TV cameras, they could do little but look sexy as they frugged and bugalooed and desperately lipsynched their latest "hits."

Others, with marvelous potential, were pushed too far too fast. At a time when they should have been learning how to create that delicate rapport between performer and audience — which distinguishes an adequate club singer from a star— they were being rushed from one TV guest shot to another.

The teeniebop pers still lead the big parade, but we're seeing more and more of the veterans.

Dinah Shore made several guest appearances last season.

Managers Look For Pitching Battle

HOUSTON (AP) — Managers Dick Williams of the American League and Red Schoendienst of the National League, both noting it has been the year of the pitcher, predict a low-scoring mound duel in baseball's 39th annual All-Star Game tonight in the spacious Astrodome.

Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals, who will start 10game winner Don Drysdale of Los Angeles, said, "I lean toward a pitcher's game. This has been the year of big zero."

Williams of the Boston Red Sox agrees. "I would say it will be a pitchers' battle," he said. "The pitchers should predominate."

He named herky-jerky righthander Louis Tiant of Cleveland, a 14-game winner to start for the American.

A standing-room crowd of over 50,000 is expected for the game starting at 8:15 EDT (7:15 Sikeston time) in the air conditioned stadium built by Judge Roy Hofheinz, owner of the Houston Astros.

The AL went through an hour workout Monday afternoon under order from American League President Joe Cronin to get the feel of the synthetic turf. Most American Leaguers have never played in the Dome.

The National holds a 20-17 series edge, including five straight and nine of the last 10. The National is a 7-5 favorite.

This caused Williams to remark after he pitched batting practice: "We sure didn't come down here to lose."

The American Leaguers adjusted quickly to the fast surface of the carpet-like turf.

Brooks Robinson, Baltimore third baseman, said, "The ball bounces true but it sure gets through the infield quick. I'd like to hit here all year. It would probably add 25 points to your batting average."

Giant Frank Howard of Washington, the leading home run hitter in the majors with 25, said he didn't think the ball carried very well.

Howard then proceeded to rip several shots into the left field seats—one over the 390 mark.

The Astrodome has dimensions of 340 feet down each line. It's 406 feet to dead center.

Some of the American League stars weren't on hand for the practice session, including Carl Yastrzemski and Ken Harrelson of Boston, Bill Freeman of Detroit and Mickey Mantle of New York, the team captain and first player ever to hit a homer in the Astrodome.

Asked about the missing players, Williams said, "They've got commitments. The game's tomorrow not today."

Tiant admitted that he was tired from pitching 6 1-3 innings Sunday but said he could go two hard innings.

"This is most important start in my life," Tiant said. "It's one of the biggest breaks I've ever had."

Williams said he started Tiant because "I think he's a damn fine pitcher. We may not have the name guys they have on the National League squad, but we do have some fellows who can play this game."

Officials said an estimated 55 million persons will watch the game over the National Broadcasting Co. television hookup in the United States, with another eight million viewing in Mexico. Joe Medwick, former Cardinal great and latest member of the Hall of Fame, will throw out the first ball.

Stars Win Tourney

Sikeston's Babe Ruth All-Stars, in their first tournament appearance of the season, made away with the top prize Sunday afternoon at VFW stadium by taking Lilbourn 9—3 and winning their own invitational tournament.

The All-Stars made their way into the Sunday afternoon finals by edging defending tournament champion, Chaffee 1—0, Saturday night while Lilbourn handed Charleston a 10—3 loss to move into the opposite position from the Stars.

Tournament play started Monday with 12 teams battling for first place.

Don Miller did the pitching choirs for the Stars against Chaffee and allowed no runs on two hits, collecting nine strike outs.

The Stars managed four hits off Chaffee hurler, Dave Buchanan, and one run in the second inning on John Scarbrough's triple that drove home Girard Hunt, who had reached base on a fielders' choice.

Lilbourn scored in each inning on its way to its 10—3 semifinal win over Charleston. Phil Hillis took the win for Lilbourn, which collected eight hits, two each by Grant Dambach and David McClarty.

Sunday's consolation game was of the wild sort. Chaffee took a 9—0 lead going into the four inning only to have Charleston cut that margin to 9—3, add six more runs in the fifth for a 9—9 tie and take the win in the sixth with a four-run inning.

Lilbourn opened the championship round with two runs in the first inning against the Stars Gary Vaught.

The Stars returned in the second to match the score at 2—2 and then went ahead with a tally in the third inning. They had the sacks full with only one out and were unable to score again. Lilbourn's Phil Hillis halted the threat with a strike out and forced the last batter to pop out.

Lilbourn made up one run in the fourth on one hit, trailing 5—3, but Vaught assisted by Miller checked the Lilbourn nine on one hit in the last three innings while the team backed them with four runs and five hits. It posted the win on 12 hits.

Lilbourn's Hillis was the tournament's most valuable player and Chaffee received the sportsmanship trophy.

The eighth annual Missouri Girls Golf Association Tournament will be played over the Country Club course at Chillicothe July 29 and 30. Practice rounds will be held July 28.

The 36-hole medal play tournament is open to girls aged 12 through 17. Flights will be set up on the basis of established handicaps.

Last year's winner was Paula Eger of Kirkwood. She finished 10 strokes ahead of her nearest rival.

A driving contest and a hole-in-one comtest are planned in conjunction with the tournament.

A scholarship to the University of Missouri is awarded each year to a deserving contestant, chosen on the basis of interest in golf, good sportsmanship, personality, financial need, scholastic ability and achievement.

Betty Anderson of Springfield was awarded the scholarship for 1968 at least year's tournament.

Entry deadline for the tournament is July 14.

Veteran tight ends Marline McKeever and Monty Stickles will be wearing new colors in the National Football League this fall.

The Washington Redskins acquired McKeever from the Minnesota Vikings in a trade Friday night for former all-prosafety Paul Krause.

The San Francisco 49ers dealt Stickles to New Orleans for another defenseive back, George Rose.

In another football development Tom Moore, who played five years with the Lreen Bay Packers before being traded to Los Angeles and then Atlanta, announced he is retiring from professional football to devote full time to a real estate business.

Moore, 29, was the first college player signed by Vince Lombardi in his rebuilding of the Packers. Moore led the NFL in kickoff returns in his rookie year.

Willie Mays and Mickey Mantle will captain their respective squads in the 39th renewal of the All-Star Game in the Houston Astrodome next Tuesday.

The San Francisco and New York Yankee superstars were named today by the All-Star managers, Red Schoendienst of the National League and Dick Williams of the American League, because of their long and outstanding services in prior games.

The idea of team captains was suggested by Commissioner William D. Eckert. One of their duties will be to present the lineup cards to the umpires before the start of the game.

MONTREAL (AP) — Canada will send a team of 150 athletes and 30 officials to the Olympic Games in Mexico City in October, it was disclosed Monday.

The squad will be sent in three sections. Those participating in long-distance will go to Alamosa, Colo., Sept. 14 to let them become acclimatized to high altitudes. Another group will leave for Mexico City Sept. 22 and the final detachment will depart for Mexico City Sept. 28.

HANNOVER, Germany (AP) — Ingo Buding, Wilhelm Bungert, Hans-Joachim Ploetz and Juergen Fassbender will comprise the West German team that will face South Africa in the European Zone A finals of the Davis Cup tennis competition July 19-21 in Duesseldorf.

CINCINNATI AP — Joe Nuxhall, the youngest player ever to appear in a major league baseball game, Thursday was named to the Cincinnati Reds' Hall of Fame.

College All-Star Game Could Be Affected By NFL Impasse

CHICAGO (AP) — National Football League owners sounded the alarm button Monday night.

Art Modell, owner of the Cleveland Browns and president of the NFL, announced that "pro football faces a long and disastrous strike" and then called for a full meeting of owners in Chicago today.

Modell's statement came after the NFL's Players Association said it had failed to resolve its disagreement with the owners over player pensions.

The players are seeking additional pension funds before the 1970 deadline desired by the owners.

Both groups met on the outskirts of Chicago Monday but reached no conclusion.

While the owners refused to give in to the players, the question of the All-Star Game arrived.

Vince Lombardi, general manager of the Green Bay Packers, who as the champions of pro football, must meet the College All-Stars in Chicago Aug. 2, said "the game will have to be delayed or canceled" unless the Packers have at least three weeks to get ready."

This resulted from an ultimatum by Modell to hold off the opening of all pro football camps until the present matter is settled.

The San Francisco 49ers were to open their rookie camp Sunday and the Packers were among those scheduled to start workouts Wednesday.

George Strickler, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune whose Chicago Tribune charities sponsors the All-Star Game, said, "Our contract is with professional football including the National Football and the American Football League.

"Our coaches are here and our squad will assemble Thursday and begin workouts Friday. We'll fulfill our end of our contract and we hope professional football will fill its end."

Meanwhile, Modell issued a statement that said, "Despite having granted 21 demands of the players' union, pro football faces a long and disastrous strike on the sole issue of granting pension benefits in 1968 to players, who on the average, will not be eligible to receive such benefits until the year 2,000."

The players' stand, held by John Gordy of the Detroit Lions who also is president of the Players' Association, is that the owners cannot contract for any amount of money cconcerning 1970 "when they do not know what the situation will be then."

The owners claim they have granted 21 demands to the players and the union's leaders "have taken the position that such an agreement cannot be concluded until the ultimate merger with the American Football League is completed."

Modell, meanwhile, refused to claim the players' group is striking. He calls it an "impasse."

Managers Look For Pitching Battle

HOUSTON (AP) — Managers Dick Williams of the American League and Red Schoendienst of the National League, both noting it has been the year of the pitcher, predict a low-scoring mound duel in baseball's 39th annual All-Star Game tonight in the spacious Astrodome.

Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals, who will start 10game winner Don Drysdale of Los Angeles, said, "I lean toward a pitcher's game. This has been the year of big zero."

Williams of the Boston Red Sox agrees. "I would say it will be a pitchers' battle," he said. "The pitchers should predominate."

He named herky-jerky righthander Louis Tiant of Cleveland, a 14-game winner to start for the American.

A standing-room crowd of over 50,000 is expected for the game starting at 8:15 EDT (7:15 Sikeston time) in the air conditioned stadium built by Judge Roy Hofheinz, owner of the Houston Astros.

The AL went through an hour workout Monday afternoon under order from American League President Joe Cronin to get the feel of the synthetic turf. Most American Leaguers have never played in the Dome.

The National holds a 20-17 series edge, including five straight and nine of the last 10. The National is a 7-5 favorite.

This caused Williams to remark after he pitched batting practice: "We sure didn't come down here to lose."

The American Leaguers adjusted quickly to the fast surface of the carpet-like turf.

Brooks Robinson, Baltimore third baseman, said, "The ball bounces true but it sure gets through the infield quick. I'd like to hit here all year. It would probably add 25 points to your batting average."

Giant Frank Howard of Washington, the leading home run hitter in the majors with 25, said he didn't think the ball carried very well.

Howard then proceeded to rip several shots into the left field seats—one over the 390 mark.

The Astrodome has dimensions of 340 feet down each line. It's 406 feet to dead center.

Some of the American League stars weren't on hand for the practice session, including Carl Yastrzemski and Ken Harrelson of Boston, Bill Freeman of Detroit and Mickey Mantle of New York, the team captain and first player ever to hit a homer in the Astrodome.

Asked about the missing players, Williams said, "They've got commitments. The game's tomorrow not today."

Tiant admitted that he was tired from pitching 6 1-3 innings Sunday but said he could go two hard innings.

"This is most important start in my life," Tiant said. "It's one of the biggest breaks I've ever had."

Williams said he started Tiant because "I think he's a damn fine pitcher. We may not have the name guys they have on the National League squad, but we do have some fellows who can play this game."

Officials said an estimated 55 million persons will watch the game over the National Broadcasting Co. television hookup in the United States, with another eight million viewing in Mexico. Joe Medwick, former Cardinal great and latest member of the Hall of Fame, will throw out the first ball.

The 36-hole medal play tournament is open to girls aged 12 through 17. Flights will be set up on the basis of established handicaps.

Last year's winner was Paula Eger of Kirkwood. She finished 10 strokes ahead of her nearest rival.

A driving contest and a hole-in-one comtest are planned in conjunction with the tournament.

A scholarship to the University of Missouri is awarded each year to a deserving contestant, chosen on the basis of interest in golf, good sportsmanship, personality, financial need, scholastic ability and achievement.

Betty Anderson of Springfield was awarded the scholarship for 1968 at least year's tournament.

Entry deadline for the tournament is July 14.

Veteran tight ends Marline McKeever and Monty Stickles will be wearing new colors in the National Football League this fall.

The Washington Redskins acquired McKeever from the Minnesota Vikings in a trade Friday night for former all-prosafety Paul Krause.

The San Francisco 49ers dealt Stickles to New Orleans for another defenseive back, George Rose.

In another football development Tom Moore, who played five years with the Lreen Bay Packers before being traded to Los Angeles and then Atlanta, announced he is retiring from professional football to devote full time to a real estate business.

Moore, 29, was the first college player signed by Vince Lombardi in his rebuilding of the Packers. Moore led the NFL in kickoff returns in his rookie year.

Willie Mays and Mickey Mantle will captain their respective squads in the 39th renewal of the All-Star Game in the Houston Astrodome next Tuesday.

The San Francisco and New York Yankee superstars were named today by the All-Star managers, Red Schoendienst of the National League and Dick Williams of the American League, because of their long and outstanding services in prior games.

The idea of team captains was suggested by Commissioner William D. Eckert. One of their duties will be to present the lineup cards to the umpires before the start of the game.

MONTREAL (AP) — Canada will send a team of 150 athletes and 30 officials to the Olympic Games in Mexico City in October, it was disclosed Monday.

The squad will be sent in three sections. Those participating in long-distance will go to Alamosa, Colo., Sept. 14 to let them become acclimatized to high altitudes. Another group will leave for Mexico City Sept. 22 and the final detachment will depart for Mexico City Sept. 28.

HANNOVER, Germany (AP) — Ingo Buding, Wilhelm Bungert, Hans-Joachim Ploetz and Juergen Fassbender will comprise the West German team that will face South Africa in the European Zone A finals of the Davis Cup tennis competition July 19-21 in Duesseldorf.

CINCINNATI AP — Joe Nuxhall, the youngest player ever to appear in a major league baseball game, Thursday was named to the Cincinnati Reds' Hall of Fame.

College All-Star Game Could Be Affected By NFL Impasse

CHICAGO (AP) — National Football League owners sounded the alarm button Monday night.

Art Modell, owner of the Cleveland Browns and president of the NFL, announced that "pro football faces a long and disastrous strike" and then called for a full meeting of owners in Chicago today.

Modell's statement came after the NFL's Players Association said it had failed to resolve its disagreement with the owners over player pensions.

The players are seeking additional pension funds before the 1970 deadline desired by the owners.

Both groups met on the outskirts of Chicago Monday but reached no conclusion.

While the owners refused to give in to the players, the question of the All-Star Game arrived.

Vince Lombardi, general manager of the Green Bay Packers, who as the champions of pro football, must meet the College All-Stars in Chicago Aug. 2, said "the game will have to be delayed or canceled" unless the Packers have at least three weeks to get ready."

This resulted from an ultimatum by Modell to hold off the opening of all pro football camps until the present matter is settled.

The San Francisco 49ers were to open their rookie camp Sunday and the Packers were among those scheduled to start workouts Wednesday.

George Strickler, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune whose Chicago Tribune charities sponsors the All-Star Game, said, "Our contract is with professional football including the National Football and the American Football League.

"Our coaches are here and our squad will assemble Thursday and begin workouts Friday. We'll fulfill our end of our contract and we hope professional football will fill its end."

Meanwhile, Modell issued a statement that said, "Despite having granted 21 demands of the players' union, pro football faces a long and disastrous strike on the sole issue of granting pension benefits in 1968 to players, who on the average, will not be eligible to receive such benefits until the year 2,000."

The players' stand, held by John Gordy of the Detroit Lions who also is president of the Players' Association, is that the owners cannot contract for any amount of money cconcerning 1970 "when they do not know what the situation will be then."

The owners claim they have granted 21 demands to the players and the union's leaders "have taken the position that such an agreement cannot be concluded until the ultimate merger with the American Football League is completed."

Modell, meanwhile, refused to claim the players' group is striking. He calls it an "impasse."

PUBLIC NOTICE

RESOLUTION

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of 1 ½" hotmix asphaltic pavement on 6" soil cement base with concrete curb and gutters on Lions Street from Malone to Adams Street in accordance with plans and specifications in the City of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Sikeston, State of Missouri, as follows: Section 1: That the Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said Street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the City of Sikeston. Section 2: That the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. Section 3: That the estimated cost of the improvement is $4.60 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. Section 4: That payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the State of Missouri and the ordinances of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the City Council the General Revenue fund of the City of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. Section 5: That any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the State of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates having been established by the Industrial Commission of Missouri. Section 6: That the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this Resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the City of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 1st day of July, 1968.

Approved: Kendall Sikes, Mayor;

Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk

NEW LOOK for policemen in France includes these riot helmets with plexiglass visors to protect faces against stones and other missiles. Gear was put to good use in recent clashes between police and strikers.

DANTE'S INFERNO? No, this man is walking into a swirling mass of steam rising from pools of boiling water lying miles beneath the earth's surface. It seeps continually from natural escape vents in the land near Cloverdale, Calif. Geologists estimate the giant cauldron will continue to send up steam for at least another 1,000 years.

every tree is a family tree...

Our trees and our forests provide your family with many happy hours of recreation.

That's why it's so important to protect them from forest fires. Nine out of ten forest fires are caused by careless people who forget Smokey Bear's ABC's: Always hold matches till cold. Be sure to drown all campfires, stir the ashes, and drown them again. Crush all smokes dead out.

please! only you can prevent forest fires

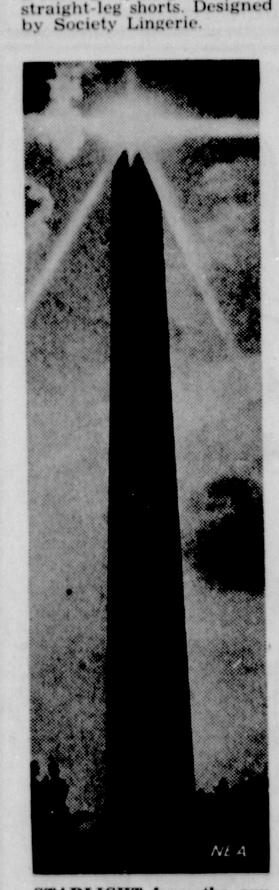
SNAPPY—Here's a versatile pantset that steps out in the sun or moonlights at home. Lowenstein's easy-care cotton canvas in a bright butterfly print shapes a flaring hip-length top and straight-leg shorts. Designed by Society Lingerie.



STARLIGHT from the sun as the tip of the Washington Monument serves as a lamp post in this unusual photo made late in the afternoon.

NEW LENGTH—The hemline in the fashion headlines for late day and evening is the midi. Here it's given ultra-feminine treatment in white embroidered cotton and dainty ruffling. A wide water-rose belt accents the tiny waistline. By Joanna Nelson of California.

PUBLIC NOTICE

RESOLUTION

A resolution declaring the necessity for the construction of 1 ½" hotmix asphaltic pavement on 6" soil cement base with concrete curb and gutters on Lions Street from Malone to Adams Street in accordance with plans and specifications in the City of Sikeston, Missouri; stating the nature of the improvement; the estimated cost and providing that payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills levied and assessed against the abutting property. Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Sikeston, State of Missouri, as follows: Section 1: That the Council of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, deems and declares the construction of said Street necessary to the welfare and improvement of the City of Sikeston. Section 2: That the nature and scope of the improvement shall consist of furnishing all cost, including labor, materials and transportation necessary for the complete construction of the improvement. Section 3: That the estimated cost of the improvement is $4.60 per lineal foot of abutting property, to be charged against the lots and tracts of land abutting the improvement. Section 4: That payment for all of the improvement shall be made by special tax bills evidencing special assessments against the abutting property in the manner specified by the statutes of the State of Missouri and the ordinances of the City of Sikeston, Missouri, because in the opinion of the City Council the General REvenue fund of the City of Sikeston is not in a condition to warrant an expenditure therefrom to pay for the improvement. Section 5: That any work performed on construction of the improvement shall be in compliance with the provisions of the prevailing wage laws of the State of Missouri, such prevailing wage rates haveing been established by the Industrial Commission of Missouri. Section 6: That the City Clerk is hereby authorized and directed to furnish a copy of this Resolution to a daily newspaper of general circulation in the City of Sikeston, so that it shall be published for seven consecutive insertions. Read the first, second and third times and passed and approved this 1st day of July, 1968.

Approved: Kendall Sikes, Mayor;

Attest: John W. Vaughn, City Clerk

Ann Landers

Non Nagging Mother Wins Praise

Dear Ann Landers: I was especially interested in your reply to the mother whose six-year-old insisted on dragging her faded, worn-out blanket everywhere. You said, "Leave her alone. She'll give it up when she's ready. I've never heard of a child taking a baby blanket on a honeymoon."

Well, Ann, stick around for a few more years and you might hear of it. Our son Johnny is 15. His baby blanket fell apart years ago (he dragged it around until there was nothing left). Then he developed a dandy substitute. Johnny twists the corners of his bedsheets into sharp little peaks and of course the sheets wear out in no time at all.

I am not complaining because apparently this twisting has filled an emotional need. Johnny has always been a wonderful son, a fine student, mechanically inclined and good in athletics. He is a thoughtful boy and never caused us any trouble. Perhaps letting him drag his blanket all those years and now twisting the sheets have given him the satisfaction other kids find in drag racing and breaking the law for "kicks."

If, when Johnny marries, he wants a baby blanket to take on his honeymoon, I'll buy him one. -- WOULDN'T TRADE

Dear Wouldn't: Your insight and wisdom have paid off. I wish more parents had it. Too often children are nagged about trivial things which should be ignored -- like dragging blankets around and twisting sheets.

Dear Ann Landers: Your column on free love is additional proof that you always side with the women. Here's how it looks from a male point of view.

I am 30 years of age, a confirmed bachelor who never once mentioned marriage to a woman. I've had 32 affairs in the last three years and four turn-downs. I'm not handsome, not rich, not a great talker and I never made an active pitch in my life. My record of conquests is proof that American women are the most aggressive, sex-hungry females in the world. When I lived in Europe I didn't get one-third the propositions I get in California.

Now what do you say? --- TRANSATLANTIC

Dear Trans. I say horsefeathers. If you never made a pitch in your life, how come the turn-downs? Your record proves only one thing -- any dame can have an affair if she sets her standards low enough.

Dear Ann Landers: I read with interest the letter from the legal secretary who refused to notarize papers unless she had seen the parties sign.

Good for her. I, too, am inflexible in this regard -- so inflexible, in fact, that I've been referred to as "that screwball." But it paid off.

Recently we handled a deed. I notarized the signatures of all five heirs. A lawyer of questionable character stated that all five signatures had been affixed by one person. He even lined up a phony handwriting "expert" to support his charges. The fool was laughed out of sight. Several witnesses said, "That screwball would never notarize a signature she didn't witness with her own eyes" -- and that ended it. ---UTICA, N.Y.

Dear U.: How refreshing to find someone who sticks to the rules even in the face of ridicule. There is so much compromising, bending and breaking these days, I doff my bonnet to you for setting a fine example.

Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure; Read the booklet "Alcoholism -- Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If You Were the Judge

Courthouse Picketing Held to Be Illegal

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

Loquacious Larry didn't approve of certain decisions being handed down by a court and decided to exercise his freedom of speech. He painted some signs and began to picket the courthouse and, while Larry believed in free speech, the local policemen decided Larry was too free with his. The result? The picket got a ticket for violating a state law that prohibited the picketing of a courthouse.

When brought before the judge, Larry insisted that the state law violated his constitutional rights.

"A man has a constitutional right to speak his mind," Larry argued vehemently. "While a court may have the authority to judge the errors of others, it can't avoid criticism for perpetuating its own. If a man wants to criticize the decisions of judges, he has a constitutional right to do so by picketing the courthouse."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you consider the statute prohibiting the picketing of a courthouse invalid?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that a state has a legitimate interest in protecting its judicial system from pressures that picketing courthouses might create. In so ruling, the judge pointed out that freedom of speech has its limitations; that "the most stringent protection of free speech would not protect a man in falsely shouting 'fire' in a theater and causing a panic."

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Paid for by one interested in the re-election of J. E. Childress, County Judge, 1st District, Scott County.

The following article is to inform the public of some of the duties and responsibilities of the County Court: This is a part-time job; Court meets Monday of each week and any other day necessary to hear any group interested in Road and Bridge Work, County Drainage problems, County Extension, County Welfare, County Library Service, other agencies and individuals. In January, the Court meets with all county officials to approve annual budgets. Most salaries and some clerical pay is set by law, the balance according to needs and funds available. $7200 (Seventy-two Hundred) is budgeted for the combined salaries of all three County Court Judges. All of this amount will not be used.

The following mentions only a few agencies with whom the County Court cooperates. Order in which they appear does not denote importance: Welfare Department--Match funds for distribution of surplus commodities and sponsor two case workers for placing children in Foster Homes. County Extension Work--Approximately $13,000 (Thirteen thousand dollars) in 1968; Delta Community Hospital --$2500 (Twenty-five hundred) for indigent care, plus occasional payment for emergency cases; Library and Health Department is supported by a levy voted by the people; Regional Planning Committee, a new agency created last year, sponsored by Gov. Hearnes and passed by the Legislature-- Most towns and cities and the County Court support this financially.

It would be impossible to mention everything the Court does. However, I must mention the improvements to our Court House. Central Air Conditioning of the Circuit Court Room, paid for by the Scott County Bar Association. Work completed by County Court includes: Refinished seats in Court Room, Painted interior, new tile floor in Detention Cell, Jury Room and Conference Rooms, New plumbing in rest room. New terrazzo floors and steps on first and second floors, new plumbing fixtures and floors in the Public rest rooms, New Entrances complete with aluminum doors. This all represents about $50,000.

These improvements were long overdue. This is all paid for, and the Court believes it worth the taxpayer's time to stop in and see these improvements. I believe you will agree.

Scott County Road Machinery is adequate and is in good repair; salaries and vacation pay for our road men are not all we would like for them, but a step in the right direction has been made.

Enough tax revenue was received in December 1967 to finance all expenditures until 1968 taxes are due. Scott County has paid NO INTEREST on protested warrants for some time. Interest has been collected on certificates of deposit on funds to be used at a later date. Scott County is in good shape financially. We believe part of the credit is due your County Court.

As a member of the Scott County Court, I have no other political ambitions. Won't you come out and vote in August and Support your "Conservative Judge."

Non Nagging Mother Wins Praise

Dear Ann Landers: I was specially interested in your reply to the mother whose six-year-old insisted on dragging her faded, worn-out blanket everywhere. You said, "Leave her alone. She'll give it up when she's ready. I've never heard of a child taking a baby blanket on a honeymoon."

Well, Ann, stick around for a few more years and you might hear of it. Our son Johnny is 15. His baby blanket fell apart years ago (he dragged it around until there was nothing left). Then he developed a dandy substitute. Johnny twists the corners of his bedsheets into sharp little peaks and of course the sheets wear out in no time at all.

I am not complaining because apparently this twisting has filled an emotional need. Johnny has always been a wonderful son, a fine student, mechanically inclined and good in athletics. He is a thoughtful boy and never caused us any trouble. Perhaps letting him drag his blanket all those years and now twisting the sheets have given him the satisfaction other kids find in drag racing and breaking the law for "kicks."

If, when Johnny marries, he wants a baby blanket to take on his honeymoon, I'll buy him one. -- WOULDN'T TRADE

Dear Wouldn't: Your insight and wisdom have paid off. I wish more parents had it. Too often children are nagged about trivial things which should be ignored -- like dragging blankets around and twisting sheets.

Dear Ann Landers: Your column on free love is additional proof that you always side with the women. Here's how it looks from a male point of view.

I am 30 years of age, a confirmed bachelor who never once mentioned marriage to a woman. I've had 32 affairs in the last three years and four turn-downs. I'm not handsome, not rich, not a great talker and I never made an active pitch in my life. My record of conquests is proof that American women are the most aggressive, sex-hungry females in the world. When I lived in Europe I didn't get one-third the propositions I get in California.

Now what do you say? --- TRANSATLANTIC

Dear Trans. I say horsefeathers. If you never made a pitch in your life, how come the turn-downs? Your record proves only one thing -- any dame can have an affair if she sets her standards low enough.

Dear Ann Landers: I read with interest the letter from the legal secretary who refused to notarize papers unless she had seen the parties sign.

Good for her. I, too, am inflexible in this regard -- so inflexible, in fact, that I've been referred to as "that screwball." But it paid off.

Recently we handled a deed. I notarized the signatures of all five heirs. A lawyer of questionable character stated that all five signatures had been affixed by one person. He even lined up a phony handwriting "expert" to support his charges. The fool was laughed out of sight. Several witnesses said, "That screwball would never notarize a signature she didn't witness with her own eyes" -- and that ended it. ---UTICA, N.Y.

Dear U.: How refreshing to find someone who sticks to the rules even in the face of ridicule. There is so much compromising, bending and breaking these days, I doff my bonnet to you for setting a fine example.

Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure; Read the booklet "Alcoholism -- Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

October Art Show in Bluff

POPLAR BLUFF — The Poplar Bluff Artist's Guild announces the 15th annual art exhibit Oct. 12 from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. and Oct. 13 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. It will be held in the lobby of the State Bank & Trust Company, which sponsors the exhibit.

Cash prizes are awarded for media plus a $25 reward for 'best in show'. The State Bank & Trust Company purchases one picture from the entries submitted.

Anyone more than 16, living within 100 miles of Poplar Bluff may enter. Rules for entry may be obtained from Mrs. Tom Lemons, 1347 Meadow Lane, or from the State Bank and Trust Company.

The election of a presidential candidate is officially recognized after Dec. 19.

ALREADY OCCUPIED

RAWLINS, Wyo. (AP) — Vice President Hubert Humphrey recently made a campaign stop in Rawlins — and state police had a busy time preparing for his arrival.

State police swooped over the airport in a helicopter to chase antelope off the runway so the vice presidential plane could land.

Either the outgoing vice president or the president protempore of the Senate administers the oath of office to the vice president-elect.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Paid for by one interested in the re-election of J. E. Childress, County Judge, 1st District, Scott County.

The following article is to inform the public of some of the duties and responsibilities of the County Court: This is a part-time job; Court meets Monday of each week and any other day necessary to hear any group interested in Road and Bridge Work, County Drainage problems, County Extension, County Welfare, County Library Service, other agencies and individuals. In January, the Court meets with all county officials to approve annual budgets. Most salaries and some clerical pay is set by law, the balance according to needs and funds available. $7200 (Seventy-two Hundred) is budgeted for the combined salaries of all three County Court Judges. All of this amount will not be used.

The following mentions only a few agencies with whom the County Court cooperates. Order in which they appear does not denote importance: Welfare Department--Match funds for distribution of surplus commodities and sponsor two case workers for placing children in Foster Homes. County Extension Work--Approximately $13,000 (Thirteen thousand dollars) in 1968; Delta Community Hospital --$2500 (Twenty-five hundred) for indigent care, plus occasional payment for emergency cases; Library and Health Department is supported by a levy voted by the people; Regional Planning Committee, a new agency created last year, sponsored by Gov. Hearnes and passed by the Legislature-- Most towns and cities and the County Court support this financially.

It would be impossible to mention everything the Court does. However, I must mention the improvements to our Court House. Central Air Conditioning of the Circuit Court Room, paid for by the Scott County Bar Association. Work completed by County Court includes: Refinished seats in Court Room, Painted interior, new tile floor in Detention Cell, Jury Room and Conference Rooms, New plumbing in rest room. New terrazzo floors and steps on first and second floors, new plumbing fixtures and floors in the Public rest rooms, New Entrances complete with aluminum doors. This all represents about $50,000.

These improvements were long overdue. This is all paid for, and the Court believes it worth the taxpayer's time to stop in and see these improvements. I believe you will agree.

Scott County Road Machinery is adequate and is in good repair; salaries and vacation pay for our road men are not all we would like for them, but a step in the right direction has been made.

Enough tax revenue was received in December 1967 to finance all expenditures until 1968 taxes are due. Scott County has paid NO INTEREST on protested warrants for some time. Interest has been collected on certificates of deposit on funds to be used at a later date. Scott County is in good shape financially. We believe part of the credit is due your County Court.

As a member of the Scott County Court, I have no other political ambitions. Won't you come out and vote in August and Support your "Conservative Judge."

Today is Tuesday, July 9, the 191st day of 1968. There are 175 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1816, Argentina declared its independence from Spain.

In 1776, news of the signing of the Declaration of Independence reached New York. Gen. George Washington summoned his soldiers and had the document read to them.

In 1819, the inventor of the sewing machine, Elias Howe, was born in Spencer, Mass.

In 1850, President Zachary Taylor died at the White House —after serving only one year and four months of his term.

In 1940, the Duke of Windsor was named governor of the Bahamas.

In 1943, Allied forces invaded Sicily in World War II.

In 1947, the engagement of Britain's Princess Elizabeth to Lt. Philip Mountbatten was announced.

Ten years ago — The Soviet Union demanded that a technical meeting in Geneva on banning nuclear tests devote itself to the question of an immediate halt to all testing.

Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy proposed that U.S. Supreme Court Justice Arthur J. Goldberg settle a labor dispute which threatened a nationwide railroad strike.

One year ago — The United States sent three large military transport planes to give logistic support to the Congo government in putting down a rebellion led by mercenaries.

Plans for 4-H Fair Near Completion

NEW MADRID — Plans are nearing completion for the 19th annual New Madrid county 4-H Fair July 18—19 at the New Madrid high school.

Exhibits on display will be articles made or grown by 4-H members. They will be entered from 9 a.m. until noon July 18. The exhibits will include food preparation, food preservation, clothing, field crops, vegetables, arts and crafts, home furnishing articles, flower arrangement, electricity and woodwork.

The night program, beginning at 8 p.m. with Dale Geske, 4-H Leader, as master of ceremonies, will highlight the day's activities and include the 4-H Style Show, public speaking and share the fun numbers.

The 4-H Style show, under the direction of Mrs. Richard Whiffen, Mrs. Markus Koch, and Mrs. Carl Romines, will be held on the stage July 18 at 8 p.m.

One girl 14 years of age or older and one girl under 14 years will be chosen to represent New Madrid county in the dress revue at the district 4-H achievement program in Cape Girardeau, Aug. 9.

One boy and one girl will be chosen to represent the county at district achievement day. District winners will be awarded a $25 savings bond and a junior leadership pen.

The night will be concluded with share the fun numbers presented by 4-H youth.

The grooming contest for both boys and girls will be held July 19 at 1:30 p.m. One boy and one girl will be selected to represent the county at the district contest day.

Demonstrations, open to the public, will be held at the same time. Demonstrations will be given from the following projects — child care, bicycle, clothing, foods, electricity, horticulture and rabbits.

Cox Will Talk To Jaycees

Tom Cox, Poplar Bluff, Republican candidate for Representative for the 10th district, will speak to the Jaycees at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Country Club. Served as treasurer of the club before he moved to Poplar Bluff.

Deceased Prisoner's Relatives Sought

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) Missouri Penitentiary Warden Harold R. Swenson is looking for a relative or friend of Joe Morgan, a life term inmate of the prison who died of a heart attack Monday after more than 36 years of servitude.

Morgan, 61, was convicted in McDonald County in 1932 on a charge of first degree murder. He suffered two heart attacks Monday and died following the second in the prison hospital.

Swenson said prison records indicated the long term prisoner apparently had no close relatives. If no one claims the body Morgan will be buried in the prison cemetery.

NEW DELHI (AP) — Deputy Finance Minister Morarji Desai rejected the plea of some children to abolish taxes on chocolates.

He told Parliament he had reasons to believe the children were made to write to him by interested parties. They hail from families which can afford the price of chocolates, the minister added.

R. L. Fenimore Dies Monday

Robert Linus Fenimore, 89, retired farmer, and former resident of Parma, died Monday at 4:30 p.m. in the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

For two years he had been a patient in the Shuffit Nursing Home on route three.

He was born in Jackson, April 10, 1879.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ida C. Fenimore, Sikeston; a daughter, Mrs. Vincent Jones, Sikeston; two sons, Ralph Fenimore, Cape Girardeau, and Mrs. Ira S. "Rip" Fenimore, Benton; one sister, Mrs. Corine Armstrong, Cape Girardeau; five grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

Services will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. in Welsh Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Joseph H. Wagner, First Methodist pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery.

of the city and is helpful in obtaining federal grants and assistance for city projects.

The overall aim of the comprehensive plan is to govern the city's growth, by using as a tool for what may be constructed in certain sections of the city, to establish a more orderly pattern of development of industry, parks, schools and residential areas.

Extensive studies in existing land use, population and business trends, traffic patterns and other factors were considered in preparations of the plan.

In other council action, a five-man board of housing appeals was appointed to handle complaints regarding housing inspections.

The body will serve as a quasi-judicial organization when a property owner disagrees with shortcomings found by a housing inspector. A housing inspector is being sought in the city's efforts to enforce housing codes and to obtain recertification of its workable program.

Appointed to the board of housing appeals were: Kenneth Dement, Sam Gibson, Bill Huff, Don Fulton and Bob Guthrie.

An ordinance authorizing an agreement between the city and the Missouri Pacific Railroad for the installation of water mains along the north side of Malone Avenue from Prairie street to South West Street was passed.

Joseph Stepp Dies In Dupo

DUPO, ILL.--Joseph Garfield Stepp, 77, retired Missouri Pacific railroad brakeman, and a former resident of Charleston, Mo., died Friday morning in the Centreville hospital.

He was born March 30, 1891 at Pikesville, Ky. He moved here from Charleston 44 years ago.

Surviving are his wife, one son and three daughters.

He was a brother of the late Dr. A.S. Stepp, formerly of the Sikeston area.

Services were Monday afternoon at the Dashner Funeral Home.

Burial was in Valhalla Burial Park in Belleville.

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — The trip for New Mexico Gov. and Mrs. David F. Cargo to the Western Governors Conference in Hawaii was enjoyable until the last moment.

Plans for 4-H Fair Near Completion

NEW MADRID — Plans are nearing completion for the 19th annual New Madrid county 4-H Fair July 18—19 at the New Madrid high school.

Exhibits on display will be articles made or grown by 4-H members. They will be entered from 9 a.m. until noon July 18. The exhibits will include food preparation, food preservation, clothing, field crops, vegetables, arts and crafts, home furnishing articles, flower arrangement, electricity and woodwork.

The night program, beginning at 8 p.m. with Dale Geske, 4-H Leader, as master of ceremonies, will highlight the day's activities and include the 4-H Style Show, public speaking and share the fun numbers.

The 4-H Style show, under the direction of Mrs. Richard Whiffen, Mrs. Markus Koch, and Mrs. Carl Romines, will be held on the stage July 18 at 8 p.m.

One girl 14 years of age or older and one girl under 14 years will be chosen to represent New Madrid county in the dress revue at the district 4-H achievement program in Cape Girardeau, Aug. 9.

One boy and one girl will be chosen to represent the county at district achievement day. District winners will be awarded a $25 savings bond and a junior leadership pen.

The night will be concluded with share the fun numbers presented by 4-H youth.

The grooming contest for both boys and girls will be held July 19 at 1:30 p.m. One boy and one girl will be selected to represent the county at the district contest day.

Demonstrations, open to the public, will be held at the same time. Demonstrations will be given from the following projects — child care, bicycle, clothing, foods, electricity, horticulture and rabbits.

Cox Will Talk To Jaycees

Tom Cox, Poplar Bluff, Republican candidate for Representative for the 10th district, will speak to the Jaycees at 7:30 p.m. tonight at the Country Club. Served as treasurer of the club before he moved to Poplar Bluff.

Deceased Prisoner's Relatives Sought

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) Missouri Penitentiary Warden Harold R. Swenson is looking for a relative or friend of Joe Morgan, a life term inmate of the prison who died of a heart attack Monday after more than 36 years of servitude.

Morgan, 61, was convicted in McDonald County in 1932 on a charge of first degree murder. He suffered two heart attacks Monday and died following the second in the prison hospital.

Swenson said prison records indicated the long term prisoner apparently had no close relatives. If no one claims the body Morgan will be buried in the prison cemetery.

NEW DELHI (AP) — Deputy Finance Minister Morarji Desai rejected the plea of some children to abolish taxes on chocolates.

He told Parliament he had reasons to believe the children were made to write to him by interested parties. They hail from families which can afford the price of chocolates, the minister added.

R. L. Fenimore Dies Monday

Robert Linus Fenimore, 89, retired farmer, and former resident of Parma, died Monday at 4:30 p.m. in the Missouri Delta Community hospital.

For two years he had been a patient in the Shuffit Nursing Home on route three.

He was born in Jackson, April 10, 1879.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ida C. Fenimore, Sikeston; a daughter, Mrs. Vincent Jones, Sikeston; two sons, Ralph Fenimore, Cape Girardeau, and Mrs. Ira S. "Rip" Fenimore, Benton; one sister, Mrs. Corine Armstrong, Cape Girardeau; five grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

Services will be Wednesday at 2 p.m. in Welsh Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Joseph H. Wagner, First Methodist pastor, officiating.

Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery.
